More Shakeups Appear Likely In Defiant Poland

Leadership Of Soviet May Change

By COLIN FROST
WARSAW (AP)—Polish Communist sources reported Monday Warsaw's political upheaval threatens to topple Nikita S. Khrushchev from his Communist leadership in the Soviet Union. And more shakeups, hitting at Moscow domination, are in prospect here to bring the government in line with the party's new "independent" course.

Poland's Sejm, parliament, opens Tuesday and will remain in session until Nov. 20. The government shakeups, possibly including the removal of Konstantin Rokossovsky as defense minister, may be announced through the Parliament in a few days.

A few days ago, Khrushchev, Polish-born Soviet marshal, was installed by Stalin in the Warsaw post.

Like the re-shakeups in the Polish party which gave the reins to tough, anti-Stalinist Wladyslaw Gomulka, the government reshuffle will have echoes in Moscow. The Kremlin reaction may already be taking shape.

East Germany Red Control Threatened

By SEYMOUR TOPPING
BERLIN (AP)—Western officials Monday saw Poland's fight to win political independence from Russia shaping up as a serious threat to Soviet control over East Germany.

Experts in this observation post behind the Iron Curtain said the Polish move may constitute a serious threat to Russia's tight military grip on her East German satellite. There are said to be around 450,000 Soviet troops in East Germany and the main line of communication and supply stretches across Poland.

Widespread reports had "large numbers" of those troops moving across the border into Poland right now.

Told to Stay Away
The U. S. and other Western nations in Potsdam in East Germany were told to stay away from the Polish border. Such orders by the Russians—issued under a four-power agreement—usually come when they are moving troops. The United States issues similar orders when it wants the Russians to stay away from troop movements of its own.

It was considered probable that the Soviet troops were being sent to Poland in an attempt to pressure the new Titoist Polish Politburo for some concessions or at the very least to protect the lifeline of the Soviet forces in East Germany.

Reliable Western sources said motorized divisions were involved in the shift and declared the Russians were heading eastward in what appeared to be combat formation.

Clashes between Soviet and Polish forces were reported Saturday night near the Polish frontier city of Szczecin—Stettin—but an editor of the Szczecin Kurier denied this. He said in a telephone interview there had been no clashes there "or anywhere else in Poland."

Unconfirmed
Another report reaching Berlin that could not be confirmed said a Soviet troop train traveling between Poznan and Warsaw was wrecked when it smashed into a Polish tank at the railway tracks. The tank reportedly was pushed on the tracks in a deliberate act of sabotage. No other details were available.

Western officials said if Soviet communications through Poland become dependable Moscow will be compelled to review its whole policy toward Germany.

It was suggested the Kremlin might become more amenable to deal on reunifying Germany with free elections provided assurances were given that the all-German government would take a fairly neutral role in East-West politics.

Western officials did not rule out the possibility that the East German Reds might take a tip from the Poles and try a Tito breakaway themselves. But such a development was regarded as unlikely.

Experts here feel the East German Reds—bitterly opposed by a majority of the people they rule—are too dependent upon Russian help and too much under the guns of the Soviet garrison to become unruly.

GOP 'Refusing Aid To The Greatest Industry Of Them All'—McMullen

... Ex-Republican Governor Speaks To NFO Meeting

By RICHARD FELLMAN
Star Staff Writer

The basic problem of American agriculture is one of business, said former Nebraska Gov. Adam McMullen, speaking to the first congressional district of the National Farmers Organization.

"Our government is based on the business system. But this system cannot work to the disadvantage of one segment of business, as it has to agriculture," McMullen said, adding:

"For many years I thought—and still think—that it was the best start that favored business, but I found that the Republican Party refused to give the same protection and assistance to the greatest and most extensive industry of them all—and for this I left the Republican party."

Speaking to a group of more than 300 NFO members and saying at the outset that his statement "has taken many years to build up, 50 years as a Republican, as a Teddy Roosevelt Republican and as a George Norris Republican," McMullen said all major segments of business in the United States receive today support by the government of a direct subsidy in one form or another.

McMullen said that the dollar the farmer today receives is a 48 cent dollar, thus making him pay more than two dollars for every dollar he gets.

"Subsidy Necessary"
"The only way this can be changed," the former governor said, "is to subsidize the entire agricultural segment completely."

security of the people and for the safety of the country."

"There must be 100 per cent parity for all farm produce," he said. "There must be a way that will hold agriculture to the same exchange of value as other segments of our economy."

"In 1952 Eisenhower said he was for 100 per cent parity, but that was before his managers got hold of him," McMullen said. "And as for Benson," he said in his first and only mention of the agriculture secretary, "you'll have to pardon me for wasting so much time on him."

McMullen said he would be satisfied if farming can be placed on an equal with all other major industries. Then, I'll think that I will have done something for my country. I wish I had left the Republican Party long ago, but I had not caught the spirit of Abraham Lincoln, that a principle must stand above party."

Calls for Vote
Closing, McMullen called on the farmers of Nebraska to "defeat those representatives of Nebraska who follow Eisenhower in matters of agriculture." The former governor was given a standing ovation after his talk.

Preceding McMullen on the NFO program was former Iowa Governor Dan Turner, of Corning, who told the group that they had better use whatever they could from the Eisenhower administration's "oil bank," "for though it isn't much, it's all you're going to get."

"I'll make the prophecy now," Turner said, "that if Eisenhower is re-elected more than a million more farmers will be put on the road, looking for employment."

Turner told the NFO members to "go out and tell your friends of our mission. We need 100 per cent parity. Providence will be with you because you're on the right side."

Also speaking on the afternoon program of the meeting were Democratic candidate for governor, Frank Sorell, candidate for lieutenant governor Frank Morrison and national NFO President Orin Lee Staley of St. Joseph, Mo.

McMullen explained that he favored a surplus, "that a surplus must always be maintained for the

Ike's Reply Is Hit

Adlai Says Note To Bulganin Is 'Unfortunate'

By ED CREAGH
CHICAGO (AP)—Adlai Stevenson said Monday he shares President Eisenhower's "resentment at the manner and timing" of Soviet Premier Bulganin's H-bomb message.

But, he said, he thought the President's reply "is unfortunate."

Stevenson said the United States should explore Bulganin's proposals "immediately and all the way."

At the same time, the Democratic presidential nominee said this is not the first time Russian leaders have interested themselves in the 1956 election.

Choice to Ike
He said they have made it plain their candidate is Eisenhower.

Stevenson issued a statement commenting on his opponent's sharp rejection of Bulganin's latest proposal that H-bomb tests be halted by international agreement.

Stevenson has urged the same thing.

He spoke out on the eve of departing for New York on a coast-to-coast tour intended to bring his campaign to what his staff members called a "driving finish."

"I share fully President Eisenhower's resentment at the manner and timing of Premier Bulganin's interference in the political affairs of the United States," Stevenson said.

"Disaster"
But he added that "the real issue is not Mr. Bulganin's manners or Russian views about American politics," but what can be done "to save the world from hydrogen disaster."

"Viewed from the standpoint, not of politics, but of peace, I think the President's reply — to Bulganin — is unfortunate," the candidate asserted.

He continued:

"There are two possibilities. One is that the Bulganin offer that Russia will stop testing hydrogen bombs is made for propaganda purposes only and with a complete lack of good faith. If that is true, it should be exposed for all the world to see."

"The other possibility is that the Russian offer, ill-timed as it is, reflects an opportunity to move ahead now toward a stop to the further explosion of hydrogen bombs."

"One Course"
"In either event, there seems to be only one course to follow. That is to pursue this opening immediately and all the way. I think we should do whatever is necessary either to close this vital matter here and now, or to expose Mr. Bulganin's insincerity to the world."

Stevenson's press secretary, Clayton Fritchey, gave newsmen some newspaper and magazine clippings to support Stevenson's statement that Bulganin expressed hope last year at the Geneva conference that Eisenhower would run for re-election, and that "more recently other Russian leaders have said they favored Eisenhower for president."

SOUTH WIND TO DEFROST CHILLY TEMPS

The chill that settled over the state early Tuesday will be defrosted by increasing southerly winds later in the day, the forecaster predicts.

It will be warmer Tuesday and Tuesday night over most of the state and warmer in the east portion Wednesday, the forecast said. Highs Tuesday will range from 65 to 75.

Early Tuesday the temperature in Lincoln stood at a chilly 46 degrees. Other points in the state were lower, nudging close to the freezing point in the north and west.

Monday's highs ranged from 56 at Sidney to 70 at Lincoln while North Platte and Imperial both reported freezing lows.

Ike To Get Pre-Election Checkup This Weekend

... Speech Plans May Be Boosted

By WILMOT HERCHER
WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower will enter Walter Reed Army Hospital Saturday afternoon for the complete physical examination he said he would undergo before the Nov. 6 election.

The White House announced the results of the "head-to-toe" checkup by an eight-man medical team will be made public not later than next Monday morning.

It was at a news conference Aug. 8, that the President said he planned a pre-election test of his health. If it shows him unfit for a second term, he said at that time, he will go before the people and tell them.

James C. Hagerty, the White House press secretary, said Eisenhower's health is "fine" right now.

It developed Monday that the President may increase his speaking schedule during the last two weeks of the campaign, making several more major appearances outside Washington.

"Think So"
Asked whether Eisenhower might undertake "a major campaign swing into several states or several cities" during the stretch drive, Hagerty replied:

"Yes, I think so."

Hagerty added plans aren't completed but that there may be two or more trips from the capital. There have been reports that Eisenhower is considering making major addresses in Boston, Philadelphia and Dallas, among other places. Hagerty didn't mention the names of any cities.

He said the White House had received a number of calls Monday about a rumor that the President had suffered another "digestive upset." Hagerty made light of the rumor, commenting: "If he's ill, he's been doing an awful lot of work."

Eisenhower is expected to leave Walter Reed Sunday afternoon or evening, after a stay of about 24 hours.

Heart Specialist
He will be examined there by a medical staff including Dr. Paul Dudley White, the Boston heart specialist who treated him a year ago; and Maj. Gen. Leonard D. Heaton, commandant of the hospital, who performed the operation for ileitis on the President June 9.

Maj. Gen. Howard Snyder, the President's personal physician, will assist in the examination, as will Col. Thomas W. Mattingly, chief of cardiology at Walter Reed; Col. Byron E. Pollock, chief cardiologist of Fitzsimons Army Hospital, Denver, and Drs. Isidor Ravdin, professor of surgery at the University of Pennsylvania, Philadelphia; Brian Blades and John H. Lyons, Washington, D.C., surgeons. The latter three were consultants in the ileitis case.

Reporters asked Hagerty to arrange for a news conference with the doctors at the conclusion of their examination and after the issuance of their report. Hagerty said he did not know whether this would be possible.

KEARNEY, Neb. (AP)—Vera Bartu, 19, a Kearney State College student from Comstock, was killed Monday night when hit by a car police said was driven by Lawrence Pribyl, 21, also a Kearney student from Paxton.

The accident occurred in front of Case Hall on the college campus and police said Miss Bartu's body was carried about 170 feet. The death was the 24th traffic fatality of the year in the state compared to 255 last October 22.

UNITED FUND DRIVE REPORT

offered this analysis of the effects in Moscow of the Warsaw revolt.

A triumvirate of the "three M's"—Deputy Premiers V. M. Molotov, A. I. Mikoyan and G. M. Malenkov—have joined in a move to eject Khrushchev as first secretary of the Soviet party.

The three are said to regard him as bungling, over-impetuous and loose-tongued, and to fear such tendencies could bring disaster on the Soviet world position and the Communist cause.

The violence of Khrushchev's denunciation of Stalin at the 20th Soviet party congress in February is believed to have speeded up the movement toward independence from Moscow which erupted in Poland in the past week and which threatens now to break out in Hungary.

Strange Bedfellows
The sources acknowledged that the "three M's" may be strange bedfellows in any move regarding party leadership.

Former Foreign Minister Molotov is regarded as the least pliable of Soviet leaders in his thinking. Mikoyan is believed to be in sympathy with a "go easy" policy. Malenkov is generally located somewhere in between the two, identified with the policy of more consumer goods for the public, Malenkov was ousted as premier in 1955.

Whatever the reaction in the Kremlin, the idea of independence from Moscow seemed extremely popular here. Demonstrations of support for Gomulka, once jailed as a Titoist and traitor to Moscow, hailed the 51-year-old leader's policy of "socialism with freedom."

A whole new series of rumors swept through the Polish capital of Warsaw during the night. One said Soviet troops were moving toward Warsaw from the direction of East Germany. Another said two or three Russian warships had been sighted off the port of Danzig.

If true, neither report necessarily represented anything unusual. Soviet warships come and go. It is known Soviet troop movements were frozen in Poland during the Polish central committee session. With the session over, it would not be surprising if the Russians renewed their usual movements between the homeland and East Germany.

offered this analysis of the effects in Moscow of the Warsaw revolt:

A triumvirate of the "three M's"—Deputy Premiers V. M. Molotov, A. I. Mikoyan and Georgi Malenkov—have joined in a move to eject Khrushchev as first secretary boss of the Soviet party. The three are said to regard him as bungling, over-impetuous and loose-tongued, and to fear such tendencies could bring disaster on the Soviet world position and the Communist cause.

The violence of Khrushchev's denunciation of Stalin at the 20th Soviet party congress in February is believed to have speeded up the movement toward independence from Moscow which erupted in Poland in the past week and which threatens now to break out in Hungary.

If all three are linked in a common purpose, it would indicate the opposition to Khrushchev in Moscow cuts across lines of political thinking inside the party and thus is a broader opposition than was previously supposed.

Whatever the reaction in the Kremlin, the idea of independence from Moscow seemed extremely popular here. Demonstrations of support for Gomulka, once jailed as a Titoist and traitor to Moscow, hailed the 51-year-old leader's policy of "socialism with freedom."

East Germany Red Control Threatened

By SEYMOUR TOPPING
BERLIN (AP)—Western officials Monday saw Poland's fight to win political independence from Russia shaping up as a serious threat to Soviet control over East Germany.

Experts in this observation post behind the Iron Curtain said the Polish move may constitute a serious threat to Russia's tight military grip on her East German satellite. There are said to be around 450,000 Soviet troops in East Germany and the main line of communication and supply stretches across Poland.

Widespread reports had "large numbers" of those troops moving across the border into Poland right now.

Told to Stay Away
The U. S. and other Western liaison mission in Potsdam in East Germany were told to stay away from the Polish border. Such orders by the Russians—issued under a four-power agreement—usually come when they are moving troops. The United States issues similar orders when it wants the Russians to stay away from troop movements of its own.

It was considered probable that the Soviet troops were being sent to Poland in an attempt to pressure the new Titoist Polish Politburo for some concessions or at the very least to protect the lifeline of the Soviet forces in East Germany.

Reliable Western sources said motorized divisions were involved in the shift and declared the Russians were heading eastward in what appeared to be combat formation.

Clashes between Soviet and Polish forces were reported Saturday night near the Polish frontier city of Szczecin—Stettin—but an editor of the Szczecin Kurier denied this. He said in a telephone interview there had been no clashes there "or anywhere else in Poland."

Unconfirmed
Another report reaching Berlin that could not be confirmed said a Soviet troop train traveling between Poznan and Warsaw was wrecked when it smashed into a Polish tank atwart the railway tracks. The tank reportedly was pushed on the tracks in a deliberate act of sabotage. No other details were available.

Western officials said if Soviet communications through Poland become un dependable Moscow may be compelled to review its whole policy toward Germany.

It was suggested the Kremlin might become more amenable to deal on reunifying Germany with free elections provided assurances were given that the all-German government would take a fairly neutral role in East-West politics.

Western officials did not rule out the possibility that the East German Reds might take a tip from the Poles and try a Tito breakaway themselves. But such a development was regarded as unlikely.

Experts here feel the East German Reds—bitterly opposed by a majority of the people they rule—are too dependent upon Russian help and too much under the guns of the Soviet garrison to become unruly.

GOP 'Refusing Aid To The Greatest Industry Of Them All'—McMullen

... Ex-Republican Governor Speaks To NFO Meeting

By RICHARD FELLMAN
Star Staff Writer

The basic problem of American agriculture is one of business, said former Nebraska Gov. Adam McMullen, speaking to the first congressional district of the National Farmers Organization.

"Our government is based on the business system. But this system cannot work to the disadvantage of one segment of business, as it has to agriculture," McMullen said, adding:

"For many years I thought—and still think—that it was the best party that favored business, but I found that the Republican Party refused to give the same protection and assistance to the greatest and most extensive industry of them

Speaking to a group of more than 300 NFO members and saying at the outset that his statement "has taken many years to build up, 50 years as a Republican, as a George Roosevelt Republican, as a McMullen said all major segments of business in the United States receive today support by the government of a direct subsidy in one form or another.

McMullen said that the dollar the farmer today receives is a 48 cent dollar, thus making him pay more than two dollars for every dollar he gets.

'Subsidy Necessary'
"The only way this can be changed," the former governor said, "is to subsidize the entire agricultural segment completely," not just a few things. They must all be protected, he said, "or the time will come when they cannot be protected. This happened in the 1930's and the entire American economy was dragged down along with the farmers."

The 81-year-old former governor cited subsidies given to other segments of American business in the form of tariffs to manufacturing, minimum wages to labor, land to the railroads, postal rates to the newspapers, and said that "money is given directly from the people to support these industries."

"I favor subsidies given to all segments. We get returns individually that add to the good of all America," he said "Yet some of the very groups receiving these subsidies call them daylight robbery and creeping socialism."

"I am for giving this same subsidy, from the people, to agriculture. Unlike other industries, it will not cost the people a cent, for the protection will enable the farmer to spend his profit and return that money back to the people."

Favors Surplus
McMullen explained that he favored a surplus, "that a surplus must always be maintained for the

Ton-Mile Drive Reports Filed On Donations

By ROY CAMPBELL
Star Staff Writer

Preliminary campaign contribution reports in the fight for and against the ton-mile tax petition showed supporters backed the issue by four-to-one.

The report of the backers of the tax, through the Committee for Better Roads Through Fair Taxation, listed contributions of $11,016. There were 87 contributors named with the highest amount listed $225, of which there were several.

Opponents of the bill, headed by Nate C. Holman, treasurer of the Nebraska Producers and Consumers Committee, Inc., listed $3,780 at the beginning of the campaign. No individual contributors were listed, with the report saying all had been of $25 or less.

Listing Required

State law requires that all contributors of $25 or more be listed by name and the amount given.

Roland Luedtke, deputy secretary of state, said Monday that "on the face of it, it looks like nothing has been contributed since the fund started."

Holman said in his report that a full report of the money taken in and expenses during the campaign would be filed with the secretary of state within 20 days of the election. This also is required by state law.

Luedtke said Holman's report also indicated that not only have there been no contributions since the beginning of the campaign, there also were none of more than $25. State law requires that even contributions from the same individual at different times and totaling more than $25 must be listed.

Two of the contributors listed in Lincoln in backing the ton-mile tax battle were Nate Gold and R. E. Campbell. Both were reported as giving $100 each. C. E. Beals, secretary-treasurer of the ton-mile tax committee, was listed as giving $200 for the campaign.

Others listed as contributing $200 or more were:

Ray Wilcox, $200
E. O. Erickson, $200
M. A. Swan, $225
L. C. Dobson, $200
D. K. Dobson, $225
Bernard Adams, $215

No Conclusions
Brt, the board's president, said the district's situation was discussed, but said "matters are still under discussion" and "no conclusions were reached."

There was a strong possibility that the Garfield district might seek annexation to the Lincoln school district.

This solution to the district's enrollment, building, and financial problems has been suggested by several sources.

No Comment
However, Garfield board members declined comment as to whether action would be taken along these lines.

Last week, the entire board resigned in protest to the school's overcrowded condition with the addition of another trailer court in the district.

Dr. Decker said the "board's resignation has not been accepted," ruling it was done without legal authority.

Turner declined specific comment on the meeting, but expressed confidence that the district's problems can be worked out by the board members and his office.

Johnson, driver of the car, collided with a car driven by Henry J. Tenbensen, 76, also of Cambridge.

Ike's Reply Is Hit

Adlai Says Note To Bulganin Is 'Unfortunate'

By ED CREAGH

CHICAGO (AP)—Adlai Stevenson said Monday he shares President Eisenhower's "resentment at the manner and timing" of Soviet Premier Bulganin's H-bomb message.

But, he said, he thought the President's reply "is unfortunate."

Stevenson said the United States should explore Bulganin's proposals "immediately and all the way."

At the same time, the Democratic presidential nominee said this is not the first time Russian leaders have interested themselves in the 1956 election.

Choice To Ike

He said they have made it plain their candidate is Eisenhower. Stevenson issued a statement commenting on his opponent's sharp rejection of Bulganin's latest proposal that H-bomb tests be halted by international agreement.

Stevenson has urged the same thing.

He spoke out on the eve of departing for New York on a coast-to-coast tour intended to bring his campaign to what his staff members call a "driving finish."

"I share fully President Eisenhower's resentment at the manner and timing of Premier Bulganin's interference in the political affairs of the United States," Stevenson said.

'Disaster'

But he added that "the real issue is not Mr. Bulganin's manners or Russian views about American politics," but what can be done "to save the world from hydrogen disaster."

"Viewed from the standpoint, not of politics, but of peace, I think the President's reply — to Bulganin — is unfortunate," the candidate asserted.

He continued: "There are two possibilities. One is that the Bulganin offer that Russia will stop testing hydrogen bombs is made for propaganda purposes only and with a complete lack of good faith. If that is true, it should be exposed for all the world to see.

"The other possibility is that the Russian offer, ill-timed as it is, reflects an opportunity to move ahead now toward a stop to the further explosion of hydrogen bombs.

'One Course'

"In either event, there seems to be only one course to follow. That is to pursue this opening immediately and all the way. I think we should do whatever is necessary either to close this vital matter here and now, or to expose Mr. Bulganin's insincerity to the world."

Stevenson's press secretary, Clayton Fritchey, gave newsmen some newspaper and magazine clippings to support Stevenson's statement that Bulganin expressed hope last year at the Geneva conference that Eisenhower would run for re-election, and that "more recently other Russian leaders have said they favored Eisenhower for president."

SOUTH WIND TO DEFROST CHILLY TEMPS

The chill that settled over the state early Tuesday will be defrosted by increasing southerly winds later in the day, the fore-caster predicts.

It will be warmer Tuesday and Tuesday night over most of the state and warmer in the east portion Wednesday, the forecast said. Highs Tuesday will range from 65 to 75.

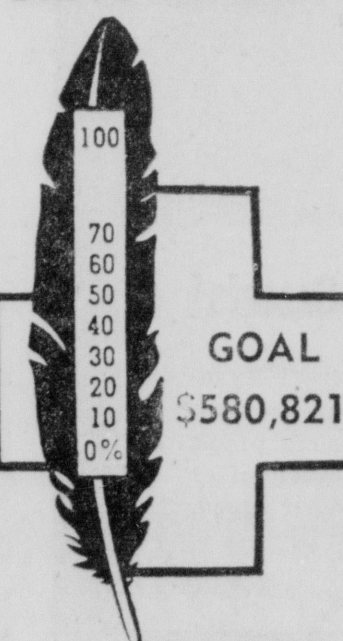

Early Tuesday the temperature in Lincoln stood at a chilly 46 degrees. Other points in the state were lower, nudging close to the freezing point in the north and west.

Monday's highs ranged from 56 at Sidney to 70 at Lincoln while North Platte and Imperial both reported freezing lows.

Ike's H-Tests Report Ready Statement Due Today

WASHINGTON (AP)—The White House said it will issue Tuesday a report on hydrogen bomb tests promised by President Eisenhower last week.

The announcement was made after Eisenhower spent half an hour discussing the report with Chairman Lewis L. Strauss of the Atomic Energy Commission.

Eisenhower asked top officials to prepare the report after Adlai Stevenson, his Democratic opponent, renewed a proposal that the United States take the lead toward obtaining an international agreement to halt H-bomb tests.

Press Secretary James Hagerty said he did not know what time the report would be released Tuesday.

The report is being prepared by the President, Strauss, Secretary of Defense Wilson, Secretary of State Dulles and administration leaders.

Businessmen Entertain 500 At Fairbury

Lincoln Star Special

FAIRBURY, Neb.—Nearly 500 farmers were guests of half a hundred Fairbury businessmen at the 7th annual farmer-businessmen's banquet at the Fairbury high school Monday night.

Farmers who attended the banquet to hear an advertised "Russian farm expert" speak on agriculture were in for a surprise.

Dr. Charles Karsakoff, the "Russian expert," turned out to be "Stuttering Sam" Cecil Hunter, a Tulsa, Okla., comic. No one was disappointed, however, as he was not only entertaining but also well-versed on the agricultural situation.

The annual event was termed a huge success by Chamber of Commerce President, Howard Boechner, Master of Ceremonies was John Thiessen of Fairbury, and Rev. L. A. Ethridge of the Fairbury Church of God gave the invocation.

Boechner welcomed the guests and Victor Blobaum gave the response.

Entertainment was furnished by the Fairbury College band and Sylvia and Adrian Ethridge, Fairbury College duo.

Reynolds To Vote On Water Bond

Lincoln Star Special

REYNOLDS, Neb.—Voters here go to the polls Tuesday to accept or reject a $28,000 water bond issue to be used to construct a waterworks system in Reynolds.

According to the proposal, a general tax would be levied on all tangible property in the town to pay off the legal interest and principal on the bonds.

The bonds would become due in 20 years with the option of redemption any time after five years. The project would cover a complete waterworks system including a well, mains, meters and pumps.

Housing Law Is Introduced Before Council

A much amended minimum standards housing ordinance has been introduced to the City Council for first reading.

Under normal procedure, the ordinance will be up for third and final reading on Nov. 5. Hearings are automatic with the Council on all ordinances at the time of third reading.

The ordinance introduced has many of its previously objectionable features eliminated. One new section spells out those parts of the ordinance which are to be non-retroactive.

Those are the features governing room size, window areas, basement apartments and rooming houses. All dwellings would have to comply with the ordinance if they are altered to an extent equal to 50 per cent of the county assessed value of the property.

This provision was boosted by the Council from 30 per cent to 50 per cent.

Introduction of the ordinance was urged by Mayor Bennett Martin. The measure is essential, he said, if Lincoln is to have an urban renewal program.

The federal government requires a minimum standards housing ordinance before it will give financial aid on urban renewal.

GRAHAM APPEAL IS REFUSED BY STATE COURT

CANON CITY, Colo. (AP)—"It's so damned close I can already smell the gas."

That's the way John Gilbert Graham looked at the future only a few days ago. Graham is doomed to execution by the state of Colorado on Jan. 12 for the dynamiting of a commercial airliner. By his act 44 persons, including his mother, perished.

Monday the Colorado Supreme Court turned down the appeal made by Graham by his court appointed counsel.

Wants to Die

Graham, pudgy-faced and sullen, has said more than once that he did not want to be saved from the gas chamber.

The court's action Monday made it almost certain that he will get his wish. His attorney said that he will file the "usual petition for rehearing" with the Supreme Court. If that is turned down, only an act of executive clemency could save Graham from death.

Occasionally his wife, Gloria, visits him. Graham has refused to see newsmen and recently he turned his back on a clergyman who wanted to give him spiritual solace.

A 'Clean' A-Bomb Claimed

Weapon Virtually Minus Poison, Says Solon

DES MOINES (INS)—Sen. Bourke B. Hickenlooper (R-Iowa) told a news conference in Des Moines Monday that the United States has developed a "clean" thermo-nuclear bomb which is virtually "without poisonous fallout."

International News Service asked Hickenlooper whether he was talking about a hydrogen or atomic bomb when referring to a "clean" bomb. The senior Iowa senator replied:

"I didn't say whether it was an atomic or hydrogen bomb."

However, Hickenlooper continued to speak of the weapon as an "atomic bomb," explaining that the term was generally accepted as covering both types.

"The fact is, we have developed a clean atomic bomb where the poisonous fallout has almost been eliminated. It was tests that proved it," the Iowa senator stated.

Tests 'Result'

Hickenlooper said the "clean" bomb had been developed within the last year as a result of continuous tests.

He added that if proposals by Democratic presidential nominee Adlai Stevenson to stop the bomb testing program had been put into effect a year ago, "we would not have developed the 'clean' bomb."

Hickenlooper, who at one time was chairman of the Joint Congressional Committee on Atomic Energy and is now the ranking Republican senator, struck out at Democratic politicians who he said were trying to create confusion on the atomic bomb. The Republican senator said, "most of them don't know anything about it."

New Type

He said:

"In the first place, in the testing of atomic weapons, we only test new type of weapons and new firing mechanisms. We don't explode already tested weapons, nor do we explode atomic bombs just to hear the bang."

"Much has been said by Democratic politicians of fallout and danger of radioactive poison."

"The fact is, all tests conducted and those projected for the future, would produce 1-70th of the amount of radioactivity we would get normally in the atmosphere."

Veterans Day Observances Set In State

Veterans Day officials in Nebraska announced plans Monday to encourage wide state participation this year in Veterans Day observance.

The announcement by Col. Hobb R. Turner, assistant to the state adjutant general, and general chairman of the Veterans Day state committee, came simultaneously with a formal proclamation of the Nov. 11 day by Gov. Victor Anderson.

Because Veterans Day, successor to Armistice Day, falls on a Sunday this year, churches especially are being encouraged to note the occasion, Col. Turner said.

With the holiday falling on Sunday, most government offices and agencies will be closed on Monday, and some communities are expected to schedule observances that day.

Gov. Anderson has been named honorary chairman of the state committee members include Lou R. Eby, state director of veterans affairs; Ashley West, moreland, regional Veterans Administration director in Lincoln, and the following Nebraska commanders of service organizations:

John R. Cooper, Husbands, American Legion; Wilbert H. Warner, Culbertson, Veterans of Foreign Wars; C. D. (Jack) Head, Omaha, Disabled American Veterans; Abe S. Miller, Omaha, Jewish War Veterans; William Phillips, Omaha, Marine Corps League; Mark F. Martin, Lincoln, Military Order of the Purple Heart; Harmon M. Turner, Lincoln, Military Order of World Wars; and Herbert L. Cooper, Lincoln, United Spanish War Veterans.

Col. Turner said letters have gone to about 400 mayors of Nebraska communities having veterans organizations, and about 25 heads of church organizations in the state, inviting participation in the observance.

Hungarian Youths Express Backing For Poles' Fight

COST OF 1 FILLING WOULD PAY 30 YEARS' FLUORIDATION HERE

The cost of one tooth filling would pay the individual cost for fluoridation of Lincoln's water supply for 30 years.

Ten cents per year per person would be the cost of supplementing the fluoride level in Lincoln's municipal water supply to a level effective in reducing tooth decay, according to a pamphlet distributed to Lincoln school children by the City-County Health Department.

A study of Colorado Springs, Colo., showed that because of the fluoride content of the drinking water, adults having grown up there have fewer filled and extracted teeth than the national average.

No Other Effect

The pamphlet, "Water Fluoridation, Friend or Enemy?" stresses that fluorides have no other effect than hardening tooth enamel, thus making the individual more resistant to tooth decay.

Besides the reduction of dental costs, the health leaflet stresses the following effects of fluoridation:

- Reduction of the health hazard of tooth decay.
- Improved nutrition.
- Improved personal appearance, leading to well-adjusted personality.

COST OF 1 FILLING WOULD PAY 30 YEARS' FLUORIDATION HERE

The cost of one tooth filling would pay the individual cost for fluoridation of Lincoln's water supply for 30 years.

Ten cents per year per person would be the cost of supplementing the fluoride level in Lincoln's municipal water supply to a level effective in reducing tooth decay, according to a pamphlet distributed to Lincoln school children by the City-County Health Department.

A study of Colorado Springs, Colo., showed that because of the fluoride content of the drinking water, adults having grown up there have fewer filled and extracted teeth than the national average.

No Other Effect

The pamphlet, "Water Fluoridation, Friend or Enemy?" stresses that fluorides have no other effect than hardening tooth enamel, thus making the individual more resistant to tooth decay.

Besides the reduction of dental costs, the health leaflet stresses the following effects of fluoridation:

Reduction of the health hazard of tooth decay.

Improved nutrition.

Improved personal appearance, leading to well-adjusted personality.

Eases Dentist's Load

Lessening of decay dental work allowing dentists to provide more and better corrective and preventive dental service.

"A majority of the physicians and dentists in the United States, including the Lincoln and Lancaster County Medical and Dental Societies recommend supplementing public water supplies with a fluoride where they are found to be deficient," it was stated.

Supplementing the city's water fluoride content can be done either by a City Council resolution or a vote of the people, the pamphlet explained.

A council resolution would be more simple and economical because of the expense of an election, according to the booklet.

Weather Ahead

Extended forecast for Nebraska: Temperatures will average 2 to 4 degrees above normal; normal highs range from the high 50s northwest to the middle 60s in the southeast; normal lows range from the low 40s southeast; cooler Tuesday and Wednesday, warmer Thursday and Friday, cooler Saturday. Up to one-tenth of an inch of rain about Thursday or Friday.

French Arrest Of 5 Algerian Nationalists Called Crisis 'Approaching War'

Tuesday, October 23, 1956 THE LINCOLN STAR 3

Tunisian Premier Protests Incident

TUNIS (Tuesday) — (INS) — French officials seized five Algerian nationalist leaders and the Tunisian government warned early Tuesday the action has "produced a situation approaching war."

Five insurrection leaders were arrested by French authorities in Algiers after the plane taking them from Rabat, Morocco, to Tunis was ordered to land and was escorted in by French fighters.

Tunisian Premier Habib Bourguiba summoned the French Ambassador in the former French protectorate and protested the arrest of the five Algerian Nationalist leaders.

A government spokesman told newsmen the "incident is a matter of extreme gravity and has produced a situation approaching war."

The Tunisian ambassador in Paris was summoned home. The nation's ambassadors in Washington and London were instructed to draw the attention of the British and French governments to the "new situation."

'Grave'

The spokesman added that Bourguiba had met with envoys of all other countries maintaining relations with Tunisia and informed them the situation was considered grave.

He said "special security dispositions" had been taken throughout Tunisia, but did not expand the statement.

The Tunisian cabinet went into an extraordinary nightlong session. Bourguiba and Moroccan Sultan Mohammed were expected to confer immediately after the cabinet meeting.

Members of the Sultan's entourage said the Moroccan ruler already had telephoned French President Rene Coty about the arrests. It was believed the Moroccan Premier or foreign minister would fly to Paris soon.

At the same time in Rabat, acting premier Driss El Mhammedi asked the United States, Britain and Spain to intercede with France to permit the five arrested Algerians to continue their flight to Tunis.

French President Rene Coty summoned top cabinet members to a session which got underway at 1 p.m. (Paris time). The meeting was called after news of the arrests reached Paris.

Following the session Premier Guy Mollet said the general situation in North Africa would be studied "soon" by the ministers present.

Further Legal Moves For Grandsinger Indicated

... U.S. Supreme Court Refuses Hearing

Indications Monday night were that further legal moves will be made in behalf of Loyd Grandsinger, following the refusal of the U. S. Supreme Court to hear the case involving the murder of a Nebraska safety patrolman.

After an Omaha meeting Monday afternoon "to discuss legal moves" with other members of the Grandsinger Defense Committee, Atty. Eugene D. O'Sullivan Sr. released the following statement:

"We know that justice lives through judgment lingers. Suffice it to say we shall be with him, we shall be with him, we shall be with him to the end."

Grandsinger's attorney declined to make any further statement.

At the state Penitentiary, Grandsinger took the news of the court's refusal of a hearing "as calmly as a man possibly could."

Grandsinger was told Monday of the high court decision by Deputy Penitentiary Warden John Greenholtz, according to Warden Joseph B. Bovey. Grandsinger made no comment on the decision.

The U. S. Supreme Court's decision leaves the next step up to the Nebraska Supreme Court—issuance of a new mandate fixing the date of Grandsinger's execution.

Wait For Mandate

The Nebraska Court must wait for an official notification from the U. S. court before issuing a mandate. Notification is expected within a few days.

Grandsinger, who is under death sentence at the Nebraska penitentiary, was scheduled to die May 18, but was granted a stay of execution pending the U. S. Supreme Court appeal.

Safety Patrolman Marvin Hansen was shot April 8, 1954, near Valentine, where he had set up a road block to intercept Loyd Grandsinger, and his older brother, Leon, suspected of traveling in a stolen car.

Convicted in Cherry County. Loyd Grandsinger was subsequently tried and convicted of first degree murder by a Cherry County District Court. The Nebraska Supreme Court upheld the conviction.

Grandsinger's appeal alleged "misconduct" by the state prosecutor and said the trial judge prejudiced his case, that he was denied the right to "adequate" defense counsel, and that "illegal" confessions were used at the trial.

The 23-year-old prisoner, who has been held at the state Penitentiary for over two years, has occupied his time with writing and painting.

After the Monday talk with Grandsinger, Deputy Warden Greenholtz expressed the belief that Grandsinger has not given up hope of reprieve.

Rev. Henry Krohn At Board Meet As New President

The recently-elected president of the Southern Nebraska District of the Lutheran Church, Missouri Synod, the Rev. Henry F. Krohn of Rawlins, Wyo., presided Monday at a board of directors meeting held at the University Lutheran Chapel in Lincoln.

The Rev. Mr. Krohn succeeded the late Dr. A. F. Wegener of Chappell in the office of district president.

The new president was assisted by the Rev. Ernest F. Hopmann of York, named first vice president of the district.

The Rev. Walter W. Koenig of Lincoln was appointed second vice president of the district by the board of directors at the Monday meeting.

The Rev. Mr. Koenig has served as pastor of Calvary Lutheran Church in Lincoln for the past 14 years.

Was Just Returning Dead Deer, Brief Says

A man with a dead deer in his possession who was apprehended by a game warden was planning to turn the deer over to proper authorities, he stated in a brief to the State Supreme Court Monday.

William Phillips, who was assessed $300 damages on conviction of a charge of possessing a deer out of season, testified at a previous trial that he found the dead deer on the highway southwest of Bridgeport.

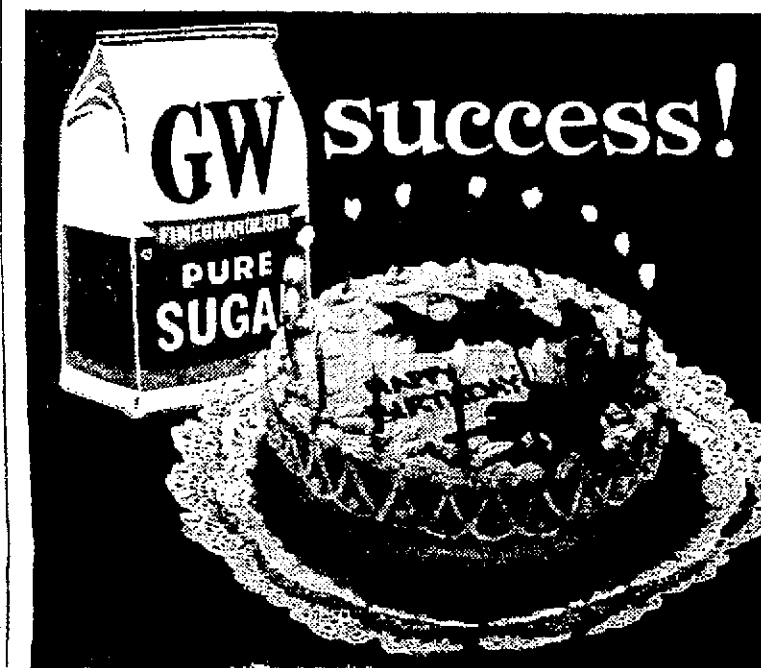

In a brief filed by his attorney Phillips told the Supreme Court that the Morrill County District Court erred in not instructing the jury that the mere picking up of a dead deer out of season does not constitute illegal possession.

Reaching For A Record

Livestock news normally appears on market pages of daily newspapers, but Monday it warranted news page treatment when the Omaha livestock market reported total cattle and calf receipts on sale of 39,000 head.

It was not quite a record. A high mark was set a year ago when the figure reached 42,817 head. But Monday's report boosted Omaha's salable livestock supplies to near 60,000 head and total receipts to near 75,000, both figures being high for the nation's major markets.

It was also significant that Monday's 35,300 cattle included 20,000 stockers and feeders from western Nebraska.

Indeed, such handsome volume pushed the Omaha market out substantially in front of Chicago and comfortably in first position with a year's edge up to October 1 of 52,000 head. But it also suggests that drought, feeding costs and insufficient confidence in later price rises is making inroads into this area's cattle herds as it did in 1955. In that respect it is not a healthy picture and mirrors so much of the current illusion of prosperity shown in transactions moving in volume and at a fast pace more representing liquidation than wholesome profit-taking. An unusually heavy run of farm auctions, heavy liquidation of farm products may set new records, but the character of the transactions deserve close study before optimism gets away with us. This current selling spree calls for an audit of the sellers with the pivotal question of how have they come out.

Tree Planting Again

An expanded tree planting program as the result of soil bank set-asides of land is foreseen for Nebraska and neighboring states according to the federal forestry service.

Such an eventuality must be chalked up as one phase of the soil bank plan of proven benefit and one most apt to win hearty support.

Of the many improvements that came to agriculture during the 'thirties the shelterbelt remains as a lasting and improving institution of broad based acceptance. It was perhaps the most scorned and ridiculed of the many offerings of the Roosevelt farm program, later to become one of the most appreciated.

Not an expensive program, the eight years of plantings required but $14,862,307 of public funds, mainly expended for young nursery stock trees while land owners contributed their time and effort in planned planting. It resulted in 217,378,352 new trees for the plains states and it is an impressive fact that survival was 89 per cent. Some of the seedlings set out in the 'thirties are now as much as 50 to 60 feet tall. They grace Nebraska highways, surround farm homes and form broad belts elsewhere for tempering of wind, protection of livestock, cover for wildlife and deterrents of erosion. In all they contributed both to the beauty and to the resources improvement of Nebraska.

It is good news to learn that the program will be resumed on a substantial scale and it goes without saying that landowner cooperation will be of the best.

Nebraska Population Gain

Nebraska was knocking at the door in this matter of population gain. It was only an estimate, to be sure, but even an estimate can be good news. It should not escape the attention of Nebraskans that the Census Bureau, computing the state's population as of July 1, 1955, has come up with the figure 1,394,000 men, women and children.

That is an increase of 5.2 per cent over the 1,325,510 revealed by an actual count of noses in 1950. If at this time there actually are 1,394,000 in this state, then Nebraska's population has reached an all-time peak, with the possibility good for being able to boast of more than 1,400,000—possibly the coveted 1,500,000—by 1960. The population figures for the last 75 years tell a story of solid gain with the exception of that

1890	1,062,656
1900	1,066,300
1910	1,192,214
1920	1,296,372
1930	1,377,963
1940	1,315,834
1950	1,325,510
1955	1,394,000

The encouraging reflection provided by these figures is that Nebraska made up for the loss that took place in the 30's when thousands were forced off the farms of this state, even though there are fewer farms today. It would be most gratifying if the census of 1960 should give Nebraska more than 1 1/2 million people, recognizing that the gain would have to be urban chiefly.

Of Men And Things

By J. E. LAWRENCE

"When Gov. Anderson went to Washington to shake Mr. Benson's hand and told him he was doing a fine job, we wrote the governor and asked him how he would feel if he were to experience a squeeze in his business such as the farms (in Nebraska) face," a reader of The Star writes. The letter was prompted because the writer of this column had said that serious as drought can be for people out on the farms, it does not tell the whole story, and frequently is emphasized by those seeking to hide the facts and confuse farmers.

"On July 7, 1956, we sold 1,950 pounds of beef—good, clean, fat beef—for 11 cents a pound," our Seward County correspondent continues. "On October 1, 1956, we sold 82 dozen eggs—No. 2 eggs, not pullet eggs—for $10.66—13 cents a dozen. Granted, we didn't have much wheat—our acres have been cut in half and the drought made the crop short. But the price also was 23 cents a bushel less than last year. Ike's flexible prices were to give us $1.81 a bushel. The Democratic price supports were to return the price to $2.22. Ike vetoed the farm legislation, compromising on $1.99. All the prices quoted are those here at Seward. We have no corn to sell because of the drought but we did have beef and eggs and you see the prices Benson is allowing." Thoughtful Nebraskans, increasingly concerned with the economic developments affecting the farmers of this state, would do well to note two statements in this letter. We had said that drought alone was not responsible for the difficulties many farmers are now experiencing. It is a part, but not all. When drought places a paralyzing hand upon the countryside, the farmer and his family have to fall back upon livestock and poultry. It has been his hogs, his beef, not infrequently his sheep, his eggs, his poultry, his butterfat and his cream that have pulled him through.

Nebraska's economy may be changing, with more and more industry contributing to diversification of both employment and income, but that industry is slow, gradual and in much of the state, welcome as it is, growth through industry is imperceptible. We are still basically dependent upon the rewards of agriculture. We still must look to it for continuing prosperity.

Conditions in this state are beginning to become a little more serious than any narrow, bigoted partisan view reveals. It should not be necessary to experience serious unemployment in Nebraska's towns and cities, feel the hot breath of business stagnation upon the back of the neck, or sit idly by while hundreds leave the farms in order to appreciate what is beginning to take shape here. It is a matter of common knowledge that a great many farmers are seeking to hold on until another crop year by finding employment in town. The sales of farm equipment are mounting. Loss of farm population is making itself felt. Nebraska's delegation in Congress surely is aware of what the combination of non-profitable prices for farm commodities and reduced production as a result of drought is doing to the people they represent. And yet with the single exception of First Nebraska District Rep. Phil Weaver, Secretary Benson has had the support of Nebraska's votes in this struggle to obtain a just, equitable share of the national income for the farmer.

It is becoming easier and easier for Nebraskans to dismiss the present farm problem by saying that it is the result of a drought. Drought is a part of it but not all of it. We will discover that to our own sorrow.

DREW PEARSON

Officials Ponder Leakage Of News

WASHINGTON — Courtly Carroll Reece, the conscientious congressman from the mountains of Eastern Tennessee, had some things to say about this writer during the recent probe of Salk vaccine prices.

Originally Reece had not planned to attend the investigation of Salk vaccine held by Congressman L. H. Fountain (D-NC), but changed his mind after he read some advance news on the probe in this column.

"I take no exceptions to the newspaper columnist using the information which he obtained," Reece declared as the committee hearing convened. "What concerned me was how a confidential memorandum got in the hands of the newspapers which contained conjectures on the part of members of the committee staff, before the members of the committee, or at least before I, as ranking minority member, had an opportunity not only to read the memorandum, but I did not even know such a study was under way. I was amazed by it."

"Mr. Reece, I am delighted that you were able to be here," commented Congressman Fountain. "With respect to the Pearson story, I did not know about it until yesterday. I am confident that no member of our staff gave out any information to Mr. Pearson. I certainly did not, and I was surprised at the content of the story."

OTHER LEAKS

"This is not the first time that there have been various 'leaks' to the press," noted Rep. Chet Holifield (D-Calif). "Mr. Pearson does seem to have a very unusual ability to obtain information on a variety of subjects. Personally, I do not know how he obtains it, but he does have great reader interest throughout the nation and apparently it is based on his ability to obtain information and put it in his columns."

"I am not making any criticism of Mr. Pearson," explained Reece. "I have a very high regard for his ability as a newspaperman. I also knew his father, and any man who had as fine a father as Drew Pearson had could not be all bad."

"Mr. Chairman, I think we should get along with the hearings," suggested Rep. Holifield.

Whereupon the investigation began, showing how six vaccine manufacturers had quoted almost identical prices to the Department of Health, Education, and Welfare. Also how the state of Illinois had bought vaccine from a wholesale drug distributor for only $6.63 a vial, though the federal government was paying $7.12 direct to the manufacturers.

Note—Testimony by James Bradshaw Mintener, assistant secretary of HEW, revealed that Mintener had told senators last year that the price quoted to Uncle Sam by the manufacturers was a fair one.

NICARO COVER-UP

Democrats have been claiming the Republican press covers up. However, it took the President himself to block the Republican Chicago Daily News from getting the facts about Len Hall's political wire-pulling in the smelly Nicaro contract in Cuba.

Ak-Sar-Ben Tops In A Land Of Queens

OMAHA—It may confuse the peoples overseas, but this great land of democracy probably produces more queens per week than the royal families do in a century—and generally better ones, too.

The difference in their queens and ours is that theirs have things pretty well greased for themselves, via heritage, while ours emerge as the best of a competitive lot of attractive young American girls.

Two queens were crowned out this way over the weekend. They were pretty Marilyn Serbousek of Hay Springs, Neb., queen of the Nebraska Wheatland, and vivaciously lovely Sally Jane Skutt of Omaha, who'll rule for the following year as queen of the Kingdom of Quivira, a never-never land created by a remarkable organization named Ak-Sar-Ben.

Ak-Sar-Ben, the name of the state in reverse, is a 22,000 member non-profit group formed in 1895 to lift Omaha and surrounding areas out of knee-deep doldrums. It provides hundreds of scholarships, supports agricultural research projects, conducts a live stock show and the world's biggest 4-H baby beef show, stimulates the interest of youngsters in farming, builds bridges, operates ambulances and lifesaving equipment, runs an annual thoroughbred race meeting, provides rodeos, ice shows and Broadway stars and bands to entertain Ak-Sar-Ben members—who pay two cents a day to belong.

I didn't have the pleasure of seeing Miss Marilyn coronated but through a friend named Morris E. Jacobs, who used to be a newspaperman himself, I had a front-row box at the elevation of Sally Jane to queenhood. I've known her since she was this high. I've known her old man longer.

California A Problem For Ike

CHICAGO—Many observers became convinced that what they were seeing these days was not so much a political campaign as a love affair between President Eisenhower and the American people.

They were saying further that the romance appeared to be going strong, with both parties seeing nothing ahead but a rosy future.

Except in California, the President had only to appear and flash the famous smile to get it back with cheers from crowds of all ages. If they had any misgivings about his health, Vice President Nixon, inflation or the troubled world situation, it was not visible.

In the closing days of the campaign Adlai Stevenson has set himself the task of piercing that euphoria. The time is short. But he will make a supreme effort—in New York with his big 45 electoral votes where he seems behind, in his native Illinois with 27 where GOP state administration scandals are plainly disturbing its people, and in California, with 32 more.

By putting these states with the Solid South and Pennsylvania—32 electoral votes—Democrats think they might pull through, given any luck at all.

They are especially looking to California, which in 1912 gave a surprise victory to another Democrat, Woodrow Wilson.

The President, who roared into the Northwest like a lion with one of the great crowds of his career in Minneapolis and St. Paul, was first faced in Los Angeles with a rebellious "captive audience". Lockheed Aircraft had erected special stands and turned out its thousands of workers on full pay when his Lockheed Columbine landed.

But the workmen protested and erected a forest of Stevenson signs. Their business agents protested that since Lockheed lives on government contracts, the show amounted to a handsome tax money gift paid in work time lost to the Republican National Committee.

The President, who has a built-in antenna to a crowd's mood, saw the signs, smelt the air and took the hint. He said a few kind words about Lockheed and departed. His crowds en route to his hotel were sparse.

An overflowing Hollywood bowl that night took out much of the sting, but it was still not a smash end to a week of great effort for him. A brief stop at Denver next day was likewise unimpressive.

Garden Glances With The Moon

What is this life if, full of care,
We have no time to stand and stare,
No time to stand beneath the houghs
And stare as long as sheep and cows,
No time to see, when woods we pass,
Where squirrels hide their nuts in grass,
No time to see in broad daylight,
Streams full of stars, like stars at night,
No time to turn at Beauty's glance,
And watch her feet, how they can dance,
No time to wait till her mouth can
Enrich that smile her eyes began.
A poor life this if, full of care,
We have no time to stand and stare.

It is third lunar quarter and the moon is on the wane, in the flexed, airy and barren sign, Gemini, today. Tomorrow morning very early it will enter the moveable, watery and very fruitful sign, Cancer. Friday morning at 6:27 it will enter the fixed, fiery and barren sign, Leo. And at 12 o'clock noon or soon thereafter Friday, fourth lunar quarter will begin. Sunday morning at 9:09 October's rapidly decreasing moon will enter the flexed, dry and earthy sign, Virgo. Then next Tuesday, October 30, at 11 minutes past 12 o'clock noon, it will enter the moveable, airy and fruitful sign, Libra. So much for the moon's signs — use them to your advantage during your autumn garden cleanup.

Why do you burn your leaves? You would not burn money, would you? Leaves are nature's plant food. Have you not noticed how rich the wood's soil under old trees? Year after year fallen leaves have lain undisturbed by man, winter snows and rains of spring and every little drop of moisture that falls upon them during the years helping in nature's process of turning them into rich soil. Start yourself a compost heap back in some secluded spot of your garden. Leafmold, loose, friable earth rich in organic matter and favorable to the growth of plants. Oak leaves are acid. So are the needles of pines, junipers, firs, yews and hemlocks. Many a plant is happiest in slightly acid soil—chrysanthemums, for instance, also Oriental iris.

Have you visited the orchard garden recently to see the chrysanthemum test plot on the campus of the College of Agriculture? Dr. Victor J. Miller tells me that all this week the gate will be open from 8:00 a.m. to noon and from 1:00 p.m. to 5:00 in the afternoon. The entrance gate is on Holdrege Street near 48th. Take your camera, a pencil and your notebook. Next year you will know exactly the varieties to add to your garden to enhance its autumn beauty. There will be no guesswork about their names for you will have it all down, colors, heights, harmonious color combinations, etc.

The picture today was shot one day last week in our garden at the south of our house actually where spring-blooming varieties or bearded iris are planted. The one pictured is an old and very deep purple early bloomer, "Purple King." What makes it of interest today is the fact that it is now blooming out of season. There are several iris among the bearded early bloomers that are spring and autumn bloomers, "Autumn Queen," a white, and "Autumn King," a light purple, to name two of the most common ones. But "Purple King" is not of this ilk. "Purple King" is blooming because of our long, dry Indian summer and its protected location. Will it come into bloom next spring at the normal time? That I do not know. We shall see. There are 10 flower stalks and all of them with the normal amount of buds. Other clumps of "Purple King" in this same location are also blooming. They will continue to bloom until a killing frost. This isn't the first year we've had repeat blooms on spring-blooming iris. No doubt you have had this same surprise. It is always pleasant and exciting to come upon them unexpectedly, isn't it?

So until another day—

Interesting Hobby

Lincoln, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: No doubt you have heard that orchids must be raised in a glass house, but this is far from true as I have five plants that I am raising in the south window of my apartment. I have had them since last February and they are doing fine. None of them is in bloom as this is an off season for them—they bloom in mid-winter. I also have some other unusual plants that I value highly. One is a very large plant that takes nourishment from the air and water. There are others, some air plants and some that grow in the soil, and I expect them to bloom around Christmas.

I am 74 years old and this is a hobby with me. I get a lot of enjoyment out of them. Anyone who wishes to see the plants are welcome at any time and I will explain how they may be taken care of in the home, and how they can be divided to set more plants.

We Agree

Seward, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: Just read your fine editorial in the October 19 Star and you are right—it isn't the drought that is wrong out here on the farms. It is a combination of things, some of which could be remedied by our Republican governor, our representatives and Ike and Benson.

On July 7 we sold 1950 pounds of beef—good, clean fat beef—for 11 cents a pound. On October 1 we sold 82 dozen eggs—No. 2 eggs, not pullet eggs—for $10.68. That's 13 cents a dozen.

Granted, we didn't have much wheat. Our acres have been cut in half and the drought made the crop short. But the price was also 23 cents a bushel less than last year. Ike's flexible prices were to give us $1.81 a bushel and the Democratic Congress' price supports were to return the price to $2.22. But Ike vetoed the farm bill and compromised on $1.99. Price quoted are here at Seward.

We have no corn to sell because of the drought, but we did have beef and eggs and you see the price Benson is giving us.

When Gov. Anderson went to Washington to shake Mr. Benson's hand and to tell him he was doing a fine job, we wrote the governor and asked him how he would feel if he were to experience a squeeze in his business such as the farms face—how he would like to have his hardware stock reduced, his inventory cut and flexible prices applied to what he had left to sell?

We received no answer.

It is plain to see the farmer is going to get no tax relief out of Republican Nebraska. The Republicans stand for no federal aid to schools, no federal aid for the polio vaccine. The people of Nebraska can pay the whole bill even though we send our income taxes to Washington.

The U. S. Department of Agriculture reports supplies of wheat and corn are larger than ever and Benson tells Nebraskans surpluses are on the run.

Prosperity Examined

Hastings, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: It has been a happy charge the Republicans have made, that the prosperity this country enjoyed while the Democrats were in power came from war spending. Let us take note where the boasted prosperity incomes from that our Republican brethren now claim for the Eisenhower administration.

It is through Army and Navy spending that such claims have been made. They are the agencies that turn loose the floods of money into the channels of commerce and trade. It is there that we can measure the greatness of our prosperity through the costs attendant in support of these two agencies. Let us look at the record—the record of the U.S. Treasury.

During the Harry Truman four years preceding the coming of Eisenhower the Army cost $40 billion and the Navy $24 billion for a total of $64 billion. We had war on our hands during that period.

Under the Eisenhower four years the Army costs have been $110 billion and the Navy $43 billion for a total of $153 billion, and during peace time.

Now if we had prosperity under Truman what ought we not have under Eisenhower in the spending of $99 billion more money. Spending it at a time he tells us we are at peace with the world and yet the armies scattered throughout seemingly the whole world.

It would seem that our Republican brethren ought to keep mighty silent on this prosperity holler they raise. Implementation for war is the most loathsome prosperity of all when it is done in peace times. Could be we haven't got that peace yet.

Not No. 306

Blair, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: Thanks to Virgil Falloon for the fine article on the constitutional amendment which will allow the legislature to cancel real estate taxes and assessments which are delinquent for a period of at least 10 years or more as determined by the legislature. Unfortunately there was a mixup on the number of this and the secretary of state has now decided to number it Constitutional Amendment No. 3 instead of 306. The Star's help in clearing this will be greatly appreciated.

Please note that it will allow release of tax and assessment charges delinquent or unpaid for a period of time as long or longer than that provided by law to authorize the taking title to real property by prescription.

The Nebraska State Bar Association at its convention this past week approved the measure.

"No Limit"
"With automation and electronics, there is no practical limit to what we can do. This is going to lead to a worker who works week and more leisure for workers."

At Colorado Springs, Colo., on his first campaign trip, Nixon held out hope for a four-day work week.

In his Flint speech, he said new deal-fair deal policies "made real confidence impossible." He added: "And the reactionary ADA policies which Mr. Stevenson advocates are nothing but a pale carbon copy of these discredited policies of the past. If we elect a Stevenson administration we would be throwing a wet blanket on the programs for new investment and plant expansion which we need if we are to continue our forward progress."

He said U.S. workers will be "risking their jobs, their take-home pay, their security and their prospects for great progress in the future" if they turn to Democratic leadership. He concluded that they "are not going to play politics with their prosperity."

Estes 'Shocked' By Ike's Response To Russia Offer

By THOMAS J. FOLEY
ROCK SPRINGS, Wyo. (INS) — Sen. Estes Kefauver declared Monday he was "shocked" at what he termed President Eisenhower's "stubborn, peevish response" to Russia's proposal for negotiations to end hydrogen bomb tests.

And the Democratic vice presidential candidate said his party would accept whatever political risk might be involved in the fact that Soviet Premier Nikolai Bulganin had suggested such negotiations after Adlai Stevenson proposed an end to H-bomb experimental blasts.

Kefauver's statements came as he campaigned in Pocatello, Idaho, and in Rock Springs, Wyo.

He also accused the administration of having a "policy of partnership with selfish interests."

"Best Interests"
Asked about the possible political hazards the Democrats might incur because of the seeming similarity of their position with that of Russia on the H-bomb test issue, the Tennessee senator replied: "We are deciding our policy on what we think is in the best interests of the United States."

If other atomic powers are willing to co-operate, he said, "we are happy to have them do so," and added: "And whatever the risk may be, we assume it."

Kefauver noted that the Presi-

V.P. Renews 'Prosperity' Theme For Michigan Wage Earners

By WILLIAM THEIS
FLINT, Mich. (INS) — Vice President Richard M. Nixon told industrial Michigan's wage-earners Monday night that election of Adlai E. Stevenson would be "throwing a wet blanket" on a bright

GOP future of prosperity and economic expansion.
"We haven't seen anything yet," Nixon said in a speech prepared for delivery in Flint, center of General Motors automobile production.

His speech, renewing the "peace and prosperity" pitch he has stressed in two prior campaign swings, highlighted the first day of his final tour. It climaxed an arduous 12 hours of barnstorming by train through Michigan after a flight from Washington.

Earlier the Vice President told newsmen the GOP campaign has "broken through" its Democratic opposition and that President Eisenhower is "elated" with results of his own Western swing.

Auto Industry

Nixon delivered rear platform or train-side speeches in Saginaw, Lapeer, Imlay City and Pontiac before reaching Flint. Saginaw, Pontiac and Flint are all industrial centers tied to the auto industry.

He added: "And the reactionary ADA policies which Mr. Stevenson advocates are nothing but a pale carbon copy of these discredited policies of the past. If we elect a Stevenson administration we would be throwing a wet blanket on the programs for new investment and plant expansion which we need if we are to continue our forward progress."

He said U.S. workers will be "risking their jobs, their take-home pay, their security and their prospects for great progress in the future" if they turn to Democratic leadership. He concluded that they "are not going to play politics with their prosperity."

Estes 'Shocked' By Ike's Response To Russia Offer

By THOMAS J. FOLEY

ROCK SPRINGS, Wyo. (INS) — Sen. Estes Kefauver declared Monday he was "shocked" at what he termed President Eisenhower's "stubborn, peevish response" to Russia's proposal for negotiations to end hydrogen bomb tests.

And the Democratic vice presidential candidate said his party would accept whatever political risk might be involved in the fact that Soviet Premier Nikolai Bulganin had suggested such negotiations after Adlai Stevenson proposed an end to H-bomb experimental blasts.

Kefauver's statements came as he campaigned in Pocatello, Ida., and in Rock Springs, Wyo.

He also accused the administration of having a "policy of partnership with selfish interests."

"Best Interests"
Asked about the possible political hazards the Democrats might incur because of the seeming similarity of their position with that of Russia on the H-bomb test issue, the Tennessee senator replied: "We are deciding our policy on what we think is in the best interests of the United States."

If other atomic powers are willing to co-operate, he said, "we are happy to have them do so," and added:

"And whatever the risk may be, we assume it."

Kefauver noted that the President has been exchanging notes with Bulganin for several months. He said that he, Kefauver, would "sit down with anybody and negotiate with anybody" if there was "some real chance that taking such a step would lead to peace in the world."

'Series' of Actions

"I think if Adlai Stevenson's suggestion is followed out," Kefauver said, "it might be the beginning of a whole series of actions that could lead to the end of the cold war."

The senator emphasized that the Democratic presidential nominee's proposal involves hydrogen — not atomic — bombs, that it does not involve stopping production of hydrogen bombs and would not mean throwing atomic workers out of jobs.

Kefauver's remarks were in response to questions about whether the rather limited scope of Stevenson's proposal was getting over to America's voters. Some construction workers in Pocatello had told newsmen they feared they might lose their employment if the proposal is carried out.

POSTCARD

A rash of bobby sox writing talent has busted out recently. It truly sparks a good deal of hope in your daddering correspondent.

At an age when most children are scribbling "What I Did on My Vacation" in their theme book, Miss Francoise Sagan came up with "Bonjour Tristesse."

Now I see another member of the cashmere sweater set has been at the literary high hurdles. A Miss Pamela Moore, scraping a mere 18 years, has walloped out a $3 item called "Chocolates for Breakfast."

Well, the hope is not for myself. I'm always losing my carbon paper at the critical moment and overworking the back space key. I do not think my performance is going to compete with the cookbooks.

My hope is that my own 13-year-old daughter will soon reach a literary 18. And start turning out novels full of adult complications.

So far she has shown pretty thin talent. But on the other hand, her complications are pretty thin. Mainly how many coats of lipstick can be worn—she would slap it on like house paint if I didn't scream like an eagle. Also whether homework should be done for two hours (my estimate). Or five minutes (her estimate).

This is not a very complicated existence. And I see nothing in it to give Doubleday cause to stop the presses. However I see some stirring of literary life. Mostly greed but that is the way it often starts.

"Do you make much money writing?" she asked.

"Not enough to buy whatever you are thinking of," I said cunningly. "I have been thinking of writing."

"My dear child," I cried. "Sit down at the typewriter. Let me get you a clean sheet of paper and sharpen the pencils. I have been waiting a long time for this day."

"But I don't know what to write about."

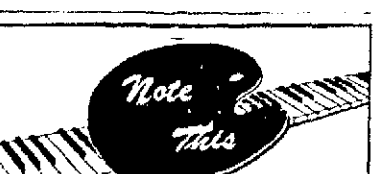

Well, this is disappointing. But I am willing to grit my teeth and go to it. So long as somebody else hits the keys.

"Write a story about people with complications. Full of despair where everybody comes out losers. In fact," I said generously, "you can write the story of my life. This has been a complicated affair. Starting off at about 6-5 against the odds getting worse each despairing day."

"I just want to make a lot of money," she said sullenly.

"So you shall," I said happily. "We shall both make a lot of money. You whipping out youthful prose and me selling it to important publishers."

"It seems like too much work," she said. "I don't think I will write."

We think we're pretty lucky, because what so many people find enjoyment in after work, we work at all the time. . . . music. It's not a surprising that we feel this way about music. If we didn't we'd be in the wrong business. We're ready to talk about music anytime . . . with anybody. That's what gave us the idea of this column. . . . a way to get together with you each week to talk about what's going on in the musical world.

Sometimes it's good to stop and consider the priceless benefits of music. Try to picture a world completely devoid of music. . . . without songs, bands and orchestras, church bells and hymns, the music of radio, television, records and movies, operas and concerts and choral groups. A fantastic picture, isn't it? But it helps us to evaluate music as a vital part of our lives.

We hope to come up with some "musical notes" that will appeal to everyone. We think every child and adult has a feeling in him for music, and maybe we can help to encourage it a little. In any event, we promise to come up with interesting sidelights and comments on the music of today and yesterday. Hope you'll look in on us each week.

We hope, too, you'll visit us often at our store. It's always a pleasure to demonstrate our beautiful lines of pianos and organs, because we know how much pleasure lies ahead for the family or the individual who chooses from among them. Let us call it over soon. McCABE PIANO & ORGAN CO., 13th & P Streets, phone 2-2724.

SAC Fighters To Compete Under Warlike Conditions

OMAHA (AP) — The five Strategic Air Command (SAC) fighter wings which will participate in the first annual bombing and navigation competition for fighters, will face up to the nearest thing to actual war conditions it is possible to provide.

Maj. Gen. R. H. Terrill, SAC director of operations, said a wing first must deploy its force from a home base to a forward base—in this instance Offutt Air Force base at Omaha.

The F-84 jet fighters will fly a three hour and 10 minute, 1,300 mile route over parts of Nebraska, Iowa, Minnesota, South Dakota and Kansas. They will not fly over cities and towns. They will make a navigation run from Omaha to Bemidji, Minn., then turn south to carry out a bombing attack on the Camp Phillips range. KB-29 tanker planes will refuel the jets in flight near Grand Island, Neb.

NFO Meeting Asks 100% Parity, Drought Aid

By RICHARD FELLMAN
Star Staff Writer

Resolutions calling for "100 per cent of parity for all farmers" and measures aimed at helping farmers in the drought stricken areas of Nebraska, were passed by delegates to the First Congressional District meeting of the National Farm Organization, the newest of national farm groups.

An audience of over 300 attended to hear speeches of former Nebraska Governor Adam McMullen, former Gov. George W. Packer, and other candidates for governor and lieutenant governor of Nebraska. Officers were elected and dues were set at the business session. Especially noticeable among the audience was the heavy majority of young faces, somewhat unusual in current farm meetings, as well as what one observer described as a "healthy sprinkling of women."

Other Resolutions
The resolutions passed by the meeting representing some 9,000 members of NFO in Nebraska's first district included, in addition to that calling for 100 per cent parity:

1. Use of the old parity formula is opposed to the deceptive modern formula which lowers farm income automatically.

2. Permission for farmers to negotiate drought certificates with fewer restrictions.

3. Granting aid to all those eligible on cattle, swine and poultry, and not only cattle, sheep and goats.

4. The making available of emergency credit.

5. Due to the drought, a re-appraisal of counties eligible for inclusion in the drought disaster area.

6. Opposition to the method of the Secretary of Agriculture used in supporting perishable commodities "which resulted in all-time high profits to packers and processors, record high cost to consumers and ruinous prices to farmers."

7. The practice of importing hams and other agricultural products from Communist-dominated countries.

The final resolution passed by the NFO pledged that "since our national economy is based on production and for construction of sewage disposal plants."

All items in the Health Department's budget will be closely examined, Dr. Rogers said, to determine where cuts can be made.

Gov. Anderson said in letters to the departments that drought conditions made necessary the requests to trim the budgets.

Dr. Rogers said the committee will meet as soon as possible to consider its chore. Public hearings with the departments are expected to begin Nov. 15 to consider the state's budgets.

Committee Named To Pare Health Budget

The budget committee of the State Board of Health was handed the job Monday of paring down the budget of the State Health Department.

A request the budget be cut in certain categories was made last week by Gov. Victor Anderson. The Health Department budget was one of 11 budgets returned to state departments for cutting.

Dr. E. A. Rogers, state health director, said no figures were given on how much the budget was to be cut. He and Dr. J. E. Thomson, board chairman, will meet with the budget group to do the paring.

Members of the budget committee also are on the board.

Dr. Rogers said one of the difficulties in paring the budget is the addition to his department of the administration of a new water pollution control program. The program, sponsored jointly by the federal government, is administered by state health departments in cases where there is no authorized pollution control board.

Dr. Rogers said the Health Department must match with federal funds two-thirds of a million dollars annually for control of the program.

NFO Meeting Asks 100% Parity, Drought Aid

By RICHARD FELLMAN
Star Staff Writer

Resolutions calling for "100 per cent of parity for all farmers" and measures aimed at helping farmers in the drought stricken areas of Nebraska, were passed by delegates to the First Congressional District meeting of the National Farm organization, the newest of major farm groups.

An audience of over 300 attended to hear speeches of former Nebraska Governor Adam McMullen, former Iowa Governor Dan Turner, Democratic candidates for governor and lieutenant governor of Nebraska. Officers were elected and dues were set at the business session.

Especially noticeable among the audience was the heavy majority of young faces, somewhat unusual in current farm meetings, as well as what one observer described as a "healthy sprinkling of women."

Other Resolutions

The resolutions passed by the meeting, representing some 9,000 members of NFO in Nebraska's first district, included, in addition to that calling for 100 per cent parity:

1. Use of the old parity formula as opposed to the "deceptive, modernized formula which lowers farm income automatically."
2. Permission for farmers to negotiate drought certificates with fewer restrictions.
3. Granting aid to all those eligible on cattle, swine and poultry, and not only cattle, sheep and goats.

4. The making available of emergency credit.
5. Due to the drought, a reappraisal of counties eligible for inclusion in the drought disaster area.
6. Opposition to the method of the Secretary of Agriculture used in supporting perishable commodities "which resulted in all-time high profits to packers and processors, record high cost to consumers and ruinous prices to farmers."

7. The practice of importing hams and other agricultural products from Communist-dominated countries.

The final resolution passed by the NFO pledged that "since our national economy is based on products for all segments of our population, we are willing to cooperate with all groups to the achievement of common goals."

Officers for the district elected by the delegates were: president, Albert A. Francke, Walton; vice president, Merely Stalder, Salem; secretary, Fay H. Moore, Nemaha; and treasurer, Leonard Zoubek, Wilber. About 150 delegates voted.

Committee Named To Pare Health Budget

The budget committee of the State Board of Health was handed the job Monday of paring down the budget of the State Health Department.

A request the budget be cut in certain categories was made last week by Gov. Victor Anderson. The Health Department budget was one of 15 budgets returned to state departments for cutting.

Dr. E. A. Rogers, state health director, said no figures were given on how much the budget was to be cut. He and Dr. J. E. Thomson, board chairman, will meet with the budget group to do the paring.

Members of the budget committee also are on the board.

Dr. Rogers said one of the difficulties in paring the budget is the addition to his department of the administration of a new water pollution control program. The program, sponsored jointly by the federal government, is administered by state health departments in cases where there is no authorized pollution control board.

Dr. Rogers said the Health Department must match with federal funds two-thirds of a million dollars annually for control of the program and for construction of sewage disposal plants.

All items in the Health Department's budget will be closely examined, Dr. Rogers said, to determine where cuts can be made.

Gov. Anderson said in letters to the departments that drought conditions made necessary the requests to trim the budgets.

Dr. Rogers said the committee will meet as soon as possible to consider its chore. Public hearings with the departments are expected to begin Nov. 15 to consider the state's budgets.

Tuesday, October 23, 1956 THE LINCOLN STAR 7

The New Trend In Suburbia

A group of Eastridge residents met Monday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert A. Glatz to complete plans for the very first party of the newly-organized Trend Dancing Club, to be held Saturday night in the Georgian Room of the Hotel Cornhusker.

SUBURBIA

The really big news in Eastridge this morning could be accompanied by the strains of "I could have danced all night," for that is just what 50 Eastridge couples may be doing this Saturday evening when their newly organized Trend Dancing Club holds its first party at the Cornhusker. Included in the membership of the dancing club, which is for Eastridge residents only, are Dr. and Mrs. R. L. Albrecht, Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Artt, Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Bauer, Maj. and Mrs. Fred Bookoven, Mr. and Mrs. John Cathery, Mr. and Mrs. Dick Cherry, Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas Christakes, Mr. and Mrs. Gaylord Cole, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Cooper, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Cusack, Dr. and Mrs. L. W. Gilbert, Mr. and Mrs. Robert A. Glatz, Mr. and Mrs. Duane Grantski, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Gray, Mr. and Mrs. William Heintzelman, Mr. and Mrs. John Hirschmann, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Holbert, Mr. and Mrs. Morris Huell, Mr. and Mrs. Max Hubert, Mr. and Mrs. James Hutchinson, Mr. and Mrs. Mel Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Kaley, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Kreyberg, Mr. and Mrs. Bud Lambert, Mr. and Mrs. O. E. Lind, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Lipps, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Lofink, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Lyall, Mr. and Mrs. Dale McCracken, Capt. and Mrs. David McEntire, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Mavick, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Manning, Mr. and Mrs. Wes Maser, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Mulder, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Neal, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Patterson, Maj. and Mrs. S. J. Reilly, Mr. and Mrs. W. Lane Rivers, Mr. and Mrs. Don P. Roberts, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Salerno, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Scott, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Simms, Mr. and Mrs. Don Stockholm, Mr. and Mrs. Dean Thompson, Mr. and Mrs. Robert VonSeggern, Mr. and Mrs. Boyd Wadde, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Way, Capt. and Mrs. John Weeks, Mr. and Mrs. Em Wicks and Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Wilson.

Entertaining friends at a canape party before the dance are Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Artt, Jr., and Mr. and Mrs. William Heintzelman. The guests, who will gather at the Art residence, are Dale Drive neighbors of the Arts and Heintzelmans.

Let it never be said that a week could go by in Eastridge with only one news item of interest. The rest of this week's chatter includes a variety of events, visitors, birthday celebrations, a bridge club meeting, and a slumber party.

First, a welcome to new residents in the neighborhood. Mr. and Mrs. Allen P. Christensen moved into their new home at 714 Eldon Dr. on Oct. 14.

On our visitors list this morning we find that Mrs. George Turrell of Mattoon, Ill. arrived in Eastridge last Saturday for a two week stay with her granddaughter, Mrs. Richard Courtney, and Mr. Courtney.

Mrs. John Rice returned to her home in Wilsonville yesterday morning after a two-week visit with her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. L. D. Cole.

Birthday celebrations were in order last Saturday for two young ladies. Ailene Duke, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dwight Duke, became 17 on Oct. 6, but waited to celebrate the event until last Saturday when she invited eight friends to her home for a slumber party. Ailene's mother tells us that the most prized birthday gift was a purple teddy bear, a present received from an ardent male admirer.

Young Donna Courtney, who is 13 years old today, did her celebrating last Saturday also, but must wish she hadn't after her harrowing experiences. Donna's father, Richard Courtney, took Donna and three friends, Linda Cleveland, Susan Duke, and Barbara Sperry, horseback riding Saturday morning. A mishap occurred and Donna was thrown from her horse. Later in the day her birthday girl suffered a slight leg injury, and has been in bed recovering ever since, so we must say get well soon and happy birthday to Donna all in one breath.

Mrs. Douglas Brogren will be entertaining the members of her bridge club this afternoon. The eight members will enjoy a dessert luncheon along with their bridge playing.

Making plans for a jaunt to the Colorado-Nebraska game this weekend are Mr. and Mrs. James Mallon. The Mallons and five other couples plan to spend Friday night in Boulder, Saturday evening in Denver, and to return home on Sunday.

The Trend Club borrows its name from the modern "ranch" homes in Eastridge, and the 30 couples who are charter members of the group are all residents of suburban Eastridge.

Group To Meet

The monthly meeting of the Lincoln Women's Inter-Club Council will be held Tuesday when the representatives meet for a noon luncheon at the Chamber of Commerce.

Bridal Party

A bride-to-be of late October who is revealing plans this morning for her approaching wedding is Miss Esther M. Pfeiffer of Lincoln, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Pfeiffer of Nebraska City, who will become the bride of Edward F. Barton of Chicago on Saturday morning, Oct. 27. The ceremony will be solemnized at 10 o'clock at St. Mary's Cathedral.

Mrs. Robert A. Peterson of Rapid City, S. D., will attend her sister as matron of honor, and the bridesmaid will be Miss Janet Jensen of Lincoln.

Serving as best man will be Thomas L. Cotugno of Chicago, and the ushers will be Robert M. Buckley of Chicago; Glen F. Pfeiffer of Nebraska City, brother of the bride-to-be; and Robert A. Peterson of Rapid City.

Last evening, Miss Pfeiffer was honored at a dinner given by a group of friends at Tony and Luigi's. The after-dinner hours were spent informally, and a personal shower was presented to the honoree.

The bride-elect was also honored recently at a one-gift shower presented to her at an office party for which Miss Mildred Burris, Mrs. Ernest Sears, Mrs. Richard Weyers, Miss Marilyn Habel, Miss Sonia Carlson and Mrs. Helen Hanneman were co-hostesses.

The Days Ahead To Be Festive

THE DAYS ahead, including those that bear the October label, and on into early November will display some pretty fancy frills in the way of activity — Oddly enough, only a small portion of the news involves football—the lion's share has to do with guests who are here—or who are arriving — brides-elect — people who are leaving Lincoln—and courtesies for each and every one.

Busy is the word for the current week — the Junior Leaguers who are up to their ears in Follies plans — guests — and potential hostesses — Understand that Mrs. Wesley Barton, the former Barbara Raun, and her young son, Tommy, have arrived from Lake Charles, La., and are the house guests of Mrs. Barton's cousin, Mrs. Charles Thorne, and Mr. Thorne. Mrs. Barton and her son arrived on Saturday and will remain for a courtesy-packed week.

To Be Guest Speaker

MRS. MARTHA ROHRICK

Guest speaker Saturday afternoon at the monthly meeting of the Lincoln Branch of the American Association of University Women, which will be open to the public, will be Mrs. Martha Rohrick of Scottsbluff, legislative chairman of the Nebraska Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs and former president of the state organization.

Mrs. Rohrick will speak on the topic, "The Case for Equal Pay", and preceding the meeting, which will be held at 1:45 o'clock in the Love Library auditorium, will be honored guest at a luncheon to be given at the University Club by the AAUW status of women committee, of which Mrs. Grace Bennett is chairman.

THEN we learned that Mr. and Mrs. Newman Buckley and their daughter, Susan, were in town briefly before going on to Aberdeen, S. D. where they are the guests of Mrs. Buckley's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. North. A week from today Mr. and Mrs. Buckley and their daughter will return to Lincoln for a longer visit with Mr. Buckley's mother, Mrs. Lester M. Buckley, and his brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Lester M. Buckley, Jr.

IN COURTESY to her daughter-in-law Mrs. Buckley will be a tea hostess between the hours of 3 o'clock and 5 o'clock at her home on Thursday, Nov. 1.

THERE are many more interesting events scheduled for November's first week, but before we delve into them too deeply we want to catch up on the Junior League Follies — a production scheduled for Dec. 4th and 5th.

Yesterday was a busy day for various groups of the League — Monday morning, for instance, Mrs. Curtis D. Kimball, general chairman of the Follies, had a coffee-meeting for all of her committee chairmen.

And on Monday evening Mrs. Richard O. Freeman and members of the program committee discussed program plans when Mrs. Freeman was hostess at a dessert supper at her home.

NOW on to November and news of some of the popular brides-elect — On Sunday, Nov. 4, Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Fraizer will be host and hostess at their home when they entertain at a 6 o'clock supper in pre-nuptial courtesy to Miss Mickey Walt and her fiancé, William Seibold.

ALSO on the list of popular brides-elect is Miss Susie Good whose marriage to Frederick W. Arndt will be solemnized on Nov. 24 — Miss Good, who has just arrived home from Kansas City where she is a member of the Shawnee Mission School faculty, will begin her long series of courtesies on Saturday when Mrs. T. C. O'Donnell and Mrs. Albert Held are coffee hostesses at the home of Mrs. O'Donnell. The soon-to-be bride will be presented with a personal shower.

ON Thursday, Nov. 1, Miss Good will again be an honoree when Mrs. Leslie Hewes and Mrs. Floyd Hoover entertain at an 8 o'clock dessert supper at the home of Mrs. Hewes. Fourteen guests have been invited and will present Miss Good with a miscellaneous shower.

THE calendar for Friday, Nov. 2, includes the luncheon for which Mrs. Freeman Everett, Mrs. Clarence Wilkins and Mrs.

Roland Mueller will be hostesses when they entertain at the University Club. Luncheon places will be arranged for 36, and the bride-to-be will be presented with a miscellaneous shower.

A SATURDAY, Nov. 3rd party for Miss Good has been planned by Miss Colleen Farrell and Miss Shirley Jesse who will entertain at a brunch at Hotel Cornhusker.

OUR Homecoming game weekend (Nov. 3) has some contributions to offer in the way of guests — Hear that Mr. and Mrs. Jack Ashburn of Hastings plan to be in Lincoln for the game — the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Carper.

WHEN we mentioned people who were leaving Lincoln away back at the beginning of the column, we had in mind Col. and Mrs. W. F. Coleman and their four children who leave soon for England where Col. Coleman will be stationed.

Needless to say the Colemans will have few idle moments between now and their early November departure — On Thursday, Nov. 1, for example, the wives of the officers of the 94th Hqqs. Squadron, will honor Mrs. Coleman when they entertain at luncheon at the Officers Club.

And on Friday evening, Nov. 2, Col. Coleman, who has served as the 98th Wing commander, and Mrs. Coleman will be complemented by the 98th Wing officers and their wives who are to be dinner hosts and hostesses at the Officers Club.

Epsilon Sigma Alpha Has Tea

The city council of Epsilon Sigma Alpha sorority entertained at a tea Sunday afternoon when their guests were girls attending Lincoln business colleges. More than 100 guests attended the tea between the hours of 3 o'clock and 5 o'clock in the State suite at the Hotel Cornhusker.

Gerald Gulland, a member of the sorority. Officers of the sorority's city council are Miss Bernita Bach-mann, president; Miss Jean Vejraska, vice president; Miss Janice McKee, secretary; and Miss Agnes Hessee, treasurer.

The New Trend In Suburbia

A group of Eastridge residents met Monday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert A. Glatz to complete plans for the very first party of the newly-organized Trend Dancing Club, to be held Saturday night in the Georgian Room of the Hotel Cornhusker.

The Trend Club borrows its name from the modern "ranch" homes in Eastridge, and the 50 couples who are charter members of the group are all residents of suburban Eastridge.

SUBURBIA

The really big news in Eastridge this morning could be accompanied by the strains of "I could have danced all night", for that is just what 50 Eastridge couples may be doing this Saturday evening when their newly organized Trend Dancing Club holds its first party at the Cornhusker. Included in the membership of the dancing club, which is for Eastridge residents only, are Dr. and Mrs. R. L. Albrecht, Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Artt, Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Bauer, Maj. and Mrs. Fred Bockoven, Mr. and Mrs. John Cather, Mr. and Mrs. Dick Cherry, Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas Christakes, Mr. and Mrs. Gaylord Cole, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Cooper, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Cusack, Dr. and Mrs. L. W. Gilbert, Mr. and Mrs. Robert A. Glatz, Mr. and Mrs. Duane Grantski, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Gray, Mr. and Mrs. William Heintzelman, Mr. and Mrs. John Hirschmann, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Holbert, Mr. and Mrs. Morris Huelle, Mr. and Mrs. Max Hulbert, Mr. and Mrs. James Hutchinson, Mr. and Mrs. Mel Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Kaley, Mr. and Mrs. Bud Kreymborg, Mr. and Mrs. O. E. Lind, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Lippis, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Lofink, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Lyall, Mr. and Mrs. Dale McCracken, Capt. and Mrs. David McIntire, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh McVicker, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Manning, Mr. and Mrs. Wes Maser, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Mulder, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Neal, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Patterson, Maj. and Mrs. S. J. Reilly, Mr. and Mrs. W. Lane Rivers, Mr. and Mrs. Don P. Roberts, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Salerno, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Scott, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Simms, Mr. and Mrs. Dean Thompson, Mr. and Mrs. Robert VonSeggern, Mr. and Mrs. Boyd Wadde, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Way, Capt. and Mrs. John Weeks, Mr. and Mrs. Em Wicks and Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Wilson.

Entertaining friends at a canape party before the dance are Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Artt, Jr., and Mr. and Mrs. William Heintzelman. The guests, who will gather at the Artt residence, are Dale Drive neighbors of the Artts and Heintzelmans.

Let it never be said that a week could go by in Eastridge with only one news item of interest. The rest of this weeks chatter includes a variety of events, visitors, birthday celebrations, a bridge club meeting, and a slumber party.

First, a welcome to new residents in the neighborhood. Mr. and Mrs. Allen P. Christensen moved into their new home at 714 Eldon Dr. on Oct. 14.

On our visitors list this morning we find that Mrs. George Turrell of Mattoon, Ill. arrived in Eastridge last Saturday for a two week stay with her granddaughter, Mrs. Richard Courtney, and Mr. Courtney.

Mrs. John Rice returned to her home in Wilsonville yesterday morning after a two-week visit with her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. L. D. Cole.

Birthday celebrations were in order last Saturday for two young ladies. Aileen Duke, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dwight Duke, became 17 on Oct. 6, but waited to celebrate the event until last Saturday when she invited eight friends to her home for a slumber party. Aileen's mother tells us that the most prized birthday gift was a purple teddy bear, a present received from an ardent male admirer.

Young Donna Courtney, who is 13 years old today, did her celebrating last Saturday also, but must wish she hadn't after her harrowing experiences. Donna's father, Richard Courtney, took Donna and three friends, Linda Cleveland, Susan Duke, and Barbara Sperry, horseback riding Saturday morning. A mishap occurred and Donna was thrown from her horse. Later in the day our birthday girl suffered a slight leg injury, and has been in bed recovering ever since, so we must say get well soon and happy birthday to Donna all in one breath.

Mrs. Douglas Broden will be entertaining the members of her bridge club this afternoon. The eight members will enjoy a dessert luncheon along with their bridge playing.

Making plans for a jaunt to the Colorado-Nebraska game this weekend are Mr. and Mrs. James Mallon. The Mallons and five other couples plan to spend Friday night in Boulder, Saturday evening in Denver, and to return home on Sunday.

The Days Ahead To Be Festive

THE DAYS ahead, including those that bear the October label — and on into early November will display some pretty fancy frills in the way of activity — Oddly enough, only a small portion of the news involves football—the lion's share has to do with guests who are here—or who are arriving — brides-elect — people who are leaving Lincoln—and courtesies for each and every one. Busy is the word for the current week — the Junior Leaguers who are up to their earlobes in Follies plans — guests — and potential hostesses — Understand that Mrs. Wesley Barton, and her young son, Tommy, have arrived from Lake Charles, La., and are the house guests of Mrs. Barton's cousin, Mrs. Charles Thorne, and Mr. Thorne. Mrs. Barton and her son arrived on Saturday and will remain for a courtesy-packed week.

THEN we learned that Mr. and Mrs. Newman Buckley and their daughter, Susan, were in town briefly before going on to Aberdeen, S. D. where they are the guests of Mrs. Buckley's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. North. A week from today Mr. and Mrs. Buckley and their daughter will return to Lincoln for a longer visit with Mr. Buckley's mother, Mrs. Lester M. Buckley, and his brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Lester M. Buckley, Jr.

IN COURTESY to her daughter-in-law Mrs. Buckley will be a tea hostess between the hours of 3 o'clock and 5 o'clock at her home on Thursday, Nov. 1.

THERE are many more interesting events scheduled for November's first week, but before we delve into them too deeply we want to catch up on the Junior League Follies — a production scheduled for Dec. 4th and 5th.

Yesterday was a busy day for various groups of the League — Monday morning, for instance, Mrs. Curtis D. Kimball, general chairman of the Follies, had a coffee-meeting for all of her committee chairmen. And on Monday evening Mrs. Richard O. Freeman and members of the programs committee discussed program plans when Mrs. Freeman was hostess at a dessert supper at her home.

NOW on to November and news of some of the popular brides-elect — On Sunday, Nov. 4, Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Fraizer will be host and hostess at their home when they entertain at a 6 o'clock supper in pre-nuptial courtesy to Miss Mickey Walt and her fiancé, William Selboldt.

ALSO on the list of popular brides-elect is Miss Susie Good whose marriage to Frederick W. Arndt will be solemnized on Nov. 24 — Miss Good, who has just arrived home from Kansas City where she is a member of the Shawnee Mission School faculty, will begin her long series of courtesies on Saturday when Mrs. T. C. O'Donnell and Mrs. Albert Held are coffee hostesses at the home of Mrs. O'Donnell. The soon-to-be bride will be presented with a personal shower.

ON Thursday, Nov. 1, Miss Good will again be an honoree when Mrs. Leslie Hewes and Mrs. Floyd Hoover entertain at an 8 o'clock dessert supper at the home of Mrs. Hewes. Fourteen guests have been invited and will present Miss Good with a miscellaneous shower.

THE calendar for Friday, Nov. 2, includes the luncheon for which Mrs. Freeman Everett, Mrs. Clarence Wilkins and Mrs.

Roland Mueller will be hostesses when they entertain at the University Club. Luncheon places will be arranged for 36, and the bride-to-be will be presented with a miscellaneous shower.

A SATURDAY, Nov. 3rd party for Miss Colleen Farrell and Miss Shirley Jesse who will entertain at a brunch at Hotel Cornhusker.

OUR Homecoming game weekend (Nov. 3) has some contributions to offer in the way of guests — Hear that Mr. and Mrs. Jack Ashburn of Hastings plan to be in Lincoln for the game — the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Carper.

WHEN we mentioned people who were leaving Lincoln away back at the beginning of the column, we had in mind Col. and Mrs. W. F. Coleman and their four children who leave soon for England where Col. Coleman will be stationed.

Needless to say the Colemans will have few idle moments between now and their early November departure — On Thursday, Nov. 1, for example, the wives of the officers of the 40th Hdqrs. Squadron, will honor Mrs. Coleman when they entertain at luncheon at the Officers Club.

And on Friday evening, Nov. 2, Col. Coleman, who has served as the 98th Wing commander, and Mrs. Coleman will be complimented by the 98th Wing officers and their wives who are to be dinner hosts and hostesses at the Officers Club.

To Be Guest Speaker

MRS. MARTHA ROHRICK

Group To Meet

The monthly meeting of the Lincoln Women's Inter-Club Council will be held Tuesday when the representatives meet for a noon luncheon at the Chamber of Commerce.

Bridal Party

A bride-to-be of late October who is revealing plans this morning for her approaching wedding is Miss Esther M. Pfeiffer of Lincoln, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Pfeiffer of Nebraska City, who will become the bride of Edward F. Barton of Chicago on Saturday morning, Oct. 27. The ceremony will be solemnized at 10 o'clock at St. Mary's Cathedral.

Mrs. Robert A. Peterson of Rapid City, S. D., will attend her sister as matron of honor, and the bridesmaid will be Miss Janet Jensen of Lincoln.

Serving as best man will be Thomas L. Cotugno of Chicago, and the ushers will be Robert M. Buckley of Chicago; Glen F. Pfeiffer of Nebraska City, brother of the bride-to-be; and Robert A. Peterson of Rapid City.

Last evening, Miss Pfeiffer was honored at a dinner given by a group of friends at Tony and Luigi's. The after-dinner hours were spent informally, and a personal shower was presented to the honoree.

The bride-elect was also honored recently at a one-gift shower presented to her at an office party for which Miss Mildred Burris, Mrs. Ernest Sears, Mrs. Richard Weyers, Miss Marilyn Habel, Miss Sonia Carlson and Mrs. Helen Hanneman were co-hostesses.

Guest speaker Saturday afternoon at the monthly meeting of the Lincoln Branch of the American Association of University Women, which will be open to the public, will be Mrs. Martha Rohrick of Scottsbluff, legislative chairman of the Nebraska Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs and former president of the state organization.

Ike Appears To Have Lead In N.Y.

... Prize Is 43 Electoral Votes

By RELMAN MORIN

NEW YORK (AP)—President Eisenhower, a smash winner in New York State four years ago, appears to be running ahead of Adlai Stevenson again at this point in the presidential race.

Samplings of opinion, straw votes, and the analyses of leaders in both parties, all point the same way.

The predominantly Republican upstate still looks strong for Eisenhower. Stevenson's aides believe he will increase his 1952 plurality in Democratic New York City. But they are not yet claiming he will win the state's 43 electoral votes, biggest bloc in the nation.

The bigger vote usually comes from upstate.

Dairyman Comments

A dairyman, laying cement in his barn, makes a typical upstate comment: "Sure, the farmers are getting squeezed, but I'm going to vote for Ike again. I hear very little criticism of him around here."

But a taxi driver in New York City says, "I always vote Democratic and I'm for Stevenson again."

Very few people, compared to some voters in other states, said they were switching from 1952. Many more, however, told this reporter they were "undecided."

Meanwhile, a compilation of more than 10,500 straw votes, taken all over the state by the New York Daily News, showed 60.5 per cent Monday for Eisenhower, 39.5 for Stevenson. The President was ahead in all the straws taken upstate, and in one of New York City's five counties.

The hopes of Stevenson's nation campaign strategists of carrying New York were described by Associated Press reporter Jack Bell as "not strong." Bell is traveling with Stevenson.

But the stretch drive in the race is just beginning.

It brings both Stevenson and Eisenhower to New York City this week. Later, Stevenson and Vice President Nixon are slated to carry the fight upstate.

Putnam Hoisington

Gen. Putnam Hospitalized At Offutt AFB

Brig. Gen. Claude E. Putnam, commander of the 818th Air Division at Lincoln Air Force Base, has been hospitalized at the Offutt Air Force Base hospital near Omaha.

LAFB officials said Monday afternoon that they had not yet been informed of the nature of the General's illness. "He is under observation, but no diagnosis has been given," they said. They did not know how long he would be hospitalized.

Col. Perry M. Hoisington has assumed temporary command during General Putnam's absence. Col. Hoisington is scheduled to become commander of the 98th Bomb Wing of the 818th Air Division in mid-November, when the present commander, Col. William F. Coleman, leaves to attend the Imperial Defense College in England.

A command pilot, Col. Hoisington, who flew 22 missions in the China-Burma-India Theater in World War II, came to the Lincoln Air Force Base from the North Atlantic Treaty Organization where he was on the staff of the allied forces in South Europe.

He has also served assignments in the Pentagon and as commander of the Atomic Test Center at Kirtland AFB, N.M.

He has been decorated with the Silver Star, Distinguished Flying Cross, the Air Medal, three Unit Citations and the Commendation Ribbon.

IAAF Asked To Outlaw Javelin Style

LONDON — The International Amateur Athletic Federation's council, which has authority to change the rules of track and field, was called on Monday to look into the irksome problem of throwing the javelin in Spanish style.

Don Pain, secretary of the IAAF, cabled all members of the council for their views on the issue which has disturbed the track and field world—and just before an Olympic Games too. He wants the IAAF council meeting Nov. 18 in Melbourne to make the new style illegal. The Olympic Games start Nov. 22.

Mock Records
The issue simply is that there's no regulation to stop athletes from hurling the spear after a twirling windup. The trouble is that athletes have been making a mockery of world records with the style.

Last weekend, Egil Danielsen of Norway threw the javelin 307 feet, 4 inches (93.70 meters) with the new method. That compares with the world record of 274 feet, 5 1/2 inches (83.66 meters) regular overhead, straight run-up style.

Danielsen is one of the favorites for the Olympic javelin throwing title.

Spanish Style
But what has upset the track and field people even more than the incredible throw by the Norwegian was the fact that a Spanish Basque named Felix Erazuquin almost broke the world record with the style which he pioneered.

Felix is 49 and no one ever heard of him before. Now he's named for the Spanish Olympic team. There's a report that another unknown Spaniard named Manuel Calvero threw the javelin 296 feet, 2 inches (90.30 meters) which also shattered the world record. The throws so far are considered unofficial.

What's bothering the experts is that a top discus thrower might get his hands on the javelin, use it Spanish style, and using the discus turns, throw the spear out of sight—or perhaps into spectators in the furthest seats of a stadium.

Davis Praises Cornhuskers

Under Secretary of the Interior Clarence Davis stopped in Lincoln over the weekend on his way back to Washington after attending the Nebraska Bar Association meeting in Omaha last week.

Davis said he decided it would be a good chance to see the Cornhuskers in action and was filled with high praise for the stand Nebraska made Saturday against Indiana.

"That one great stand our boys made on the goal line was the best I've seen in 20 years," the Lincoln attorney remarked. "Give those boys another couple of weeks practice at intercepting passes and they'll be great," he added.

Grudge Battle Scheduled In Rasse Tonight

The Vern Gagne-Angelo Poffo feud resumes again Tuesday night at the Fairgrounds Arena.

Gagne and Poffo have staged some rib-rattling wrestling matches and tonight's affair has all the earmarks of a deluxe grudge battle.

Also on the card are two preliminary matches.

Grant Paul Bunyon, who stands 8-4, tangles with Duke Demetri in the semi-windup.

In the curtain-raiser, Promoter Tom Novak has inked Bozo Brown and Carl Engstrom, a pair of newcomers to the Lincoln arena.

DODGER HURLER HAS SORE ARM

TOKYO — Right-hander Don Newcombe, the Brooklyn Dodgers' 27-game winner, said Monday he hurt his pitching elbow in the final game of the National League season but that "I'm sure it will be all right with a little rest."

"I've hurt it before," said Newk, "and it always clears up if I give it a good rest—I sure hope it does this time."

The 30-year-old Dodger ace, who was belted out twice as the New York Yankees defeated Brooklyn in the World Series, said he didn't mention the injury before because: "Well, I didn't see any point in telling everybody and I hoped it would get better."

Newcombe also has been rocked twice on the Dodgers' current tour of the Far East, lasting less than an inning here Sunday.

Newk said the elbow gives him trouble only when he pitches, adding that the pain was sharper when he threw a curve.

He added he will stay with the Dodgers for the remainder of their tour, but didn't know whether he'll be asked to pitch again. Newk said Dodger President Walter C'Malley has ordered a complete checkup on the arm when the team returns home.

Cas 'Ain't Nothin' But A Hound Dog'

EUGENE, Ore. — Len Casanova, University of Oregon football coach, was hanged in effigy from a tree on the campus early Monday.

A sign on the effigy said: "Cas, You Ain't Nothin' But A Hound Dog."

The university's football team was defeated Saturday by Stanford, 21-7. A year ago, after a 44-7 rout by Stanford, Casanova was hanged in effigy from the same tree—only coming to be known among students as "Effigy Tree."

After last year's hanging, a student rally crowned Casanova "King of the Campus" in a move intended to show student support.

Ryff Starts Comeback; Wins Easily

NEW YORK — New York's Frankie Ryff, a leading lightweight contender until he was knocked out four months ago, started a comeback Monday night by outclassing Frankie Ippolito, a Bronx rival, in a 10-round bout at St. Nicholas Arena. Ryff, a 3-1 favorite, weighed 139 to Ippolito's 139 1/2.

It took the 24-year-old Ryff a few rounds to shake off ring rust, but then he made it no contest.

The votes, all for Ryff, were: Judge Leo Birnbaum 9-1, Judge Joe Agnello 8-2 and Referee George Walsh 7-3. The AP card had Ryff ahead, 8-1-1.

Ryff was wild at the start against his shifty and always moving opponent. He found the range in the fourth with a solid left hook to the jaw that made Ippolito's knees sag and staggered the 22-year-old loser with left hooks in the last three rounds.

Ippolito, going 10 rounds for the first time, was cut over the left eye in the fifth round. Ryff was nicked over his left eye in the same round.

It was a good warmup for Ryff, who meets Kenny Lane of Muskegon, Mich., the fifth ranking lightweight contender, at Miami November 14.

It was Ryff's first start since he was flattened for the first time in his career June 2 by Larry Boardman in the ninth round at Madison Square Garden. For a while Ryff planned to retire but he decided to give the game one more try.

Ippolito suffered his fourth loss. He has won 19.

HUSKER FROSH HARRIERS WIN

Nebraska freshman harriers defeated Colorado's frosh in a postal cross-country meet, Coach Frank Seivigne announced Monday.

Low scorers win and the Huskers registered only 15 points, while the Buffs piled up 49.

The results:
1. Joe Mullins (N) 9:47.5; 2. Mike Fleming (N) 9:58; 3. Bill Meloy (N) 10:08; 4. George Robinson (N) 10:11; 5. Phil Dean (N) 10:15; 6. Ken Ash (N) 10:20; 7. Ralph Poucher (C) 10:34; 8. Bruce Brest (N) 10:42; 9. Bernard Frakes (C) 10:54; 10. Yoon Ahn (C) 11:05.

Harshman, Rhoda May Miss Game

By DON BRYANT
Sports Editor, The Star
Quarterback George Harshman and Guard Don Rhoda are doubtful participants in the Colorado game this week, but the rest of the Nebraska Cornhuskers are expected to be ready for full duty.

Harshman is still confined to Student Health with a severe case of flu, while Rhoda suffered a pulled leg muscle against Indiana.

"We expect Harshman to be able to play at Colorado, but it will be a day or two before he'll be able to run," Coach Pete Elliott said Monday. "So there's a chance he may not be completely ready."

With Rhoda out of action the Huskers would use either Larry Jones or Ernie English at left guard on the alternate unit, Elliott said. If English got the nod it would mean a shift from tackle for him.

No other lineup changes are anticipated by Elliott who indicated he'd go with his same starters. In the backfield this would be Harshman at quarterback—if he's ready, Roy Stinnett if Harshman can't go—Frank Nappi at left half, Larry Naviaux at right half and Jerry Brown at fullback.

The second backfield would have either Bill Hawkins (bothered by a pulled muscle, but expected to be ready for 100 per cent duty) or Leo George at left half, Willie Greenlaw at right half and Dick McCashland at fullback. If Harshman is still out, Gordie Englert will be the No. 2 quarterback.

Guard Jim Murphy and Center Bob Bergin, both banged up in the Indiana game, are okay.

The first two units look things easy Monday, drilling in sweat clothes. The rest of the squad got in a few scrimmage licks against the Husker frosh.

Morale Good

Elliott said Monday that the Huskers "bounced back good" after the Indiana loss.

"The boys took the loss pretty hard, but they're in a good frame of mind now," he said. "They have a real good attitude for the Colorado game."

'Team Effort'

The Husker coach didn't single out any particular players for their work against Indiana after studying the game movies.

"I think the team as a whole played real well—but by far its best game of the year—and I thought every boy played real hard. It's just too bad they couldn't win after such a fine effort."

"If they continue to make the great team effort they made against Indiana, we'll improve a great deal."

Multiple Offense

While Colorado has been operating basically from the single wing, the Cornhuskers have to prepare for the Buffs' multiple offense.

"We have to be ready for the unbalanced T, flankers from an unbalanced T, single wing right and single wing left," Elliott said.

He indicated concern over Colorado's single wing left and said the Huskers would study that a lot this week.

Scout Report

Don Strasheim, Husker assistant who scouted the Buffs when they trounced Iowa State, 52-0, said:

"John Bayuk is much better this year. He's lost weight and is much faster."

Bayuk tallied three touchdowns during the rout.

Colorado's ends are also top-rated.

It's Oshkosh, by gosh! Oshkosh is in first place in The Star's Class C high school football ratings, replacing Grant.

Oshkosh continued to make its weight felt in western Nebraska by trimming Class B Chappell 40-13 last week. That was the sixth victory in a row this year for Coach Harold Haberman's club.

Grant slipped to second place and will have a chance to regain its earlier top rating when Oshkosh and Grant play at Grant November 9.

Crete is still the Class B leader, but there were changes in the B chart this week.

Class B

Top-rated Crete was idle last week but faces its biggest hurdle Friday at Omaha Westside, a Class A team.

This game could be the make-or-break battle for Coach Ray Westover's Cardinals. A win wouldn't necessarily sew up B honors since Schuyler (10th in Class B) and Class A teams Beatrice and Falls City remain on the Crete schedule.

Still, a victory over Westside would give Crete a big edge in the race.

A loss by a very large margin would boost Bellevue's place. Bellevue, in second place, lost to Westside 13-6 in a thriller.

Broken Bow is now booming. The Indians are in third place with a 5-1 record, including five straight victories after an opening loss to Lexington. Latest Broken Bow victim was rated Cozad (19-12).

Pierce and Plainview, rated fourth and fifth, come to a showdown Wednesday. Both are undefeated; only a tie with Class A South Sioux City mars Plainview's record.

Ogallala, second in last week's

Dale Mitchell Quits Baseball

OKLAHOMA CITY — Dale Mitchell, major league outfielder for 10 years with Cleveland and recently with Brooklyn, announced Monday he is quitting baseball and will join a Houston, Tex., oil equipment company.

Mitchell said he will work for the Associated Oil Field Rentals as a special representative, contacting customers in Oklahoma City, Tulsa, Dallas, Fort Worth and Wichita Falls, Tex.

Mitchell said he will begin his new assignment Nov. 1.

He first broke into the majors in 1946 with Cleveland and was with the Indians until late this season when he went to Brooklyn where he was used as a pinch-hitter.

LCC's Williamson Delegate For PGA

Bud Williamson, Lincoln Country Club professional, was named first delegate to the national Professional Golf Association convention at a meeting of the Nebraska PGA held at the Lincoln Country Club.

Al Beister of Fremont was named second delegate. The national convention will be held in Florida late in November.

Does Newk Choke? Past Facts Say No

NEW YORK — Don Newcombe is one of major league baseball's best pitchers. He may be the best.

Yet, the big Brooklyn Dodgers' right-hander has become one of the game's most controversial figures. Does he "choke up" in important games? Does he need a big lead to work on? How many times does he go the distance? These are the questions being asked by fans everywhere. Asked, incidentally, while Newcombe, in Japan, is away from it all.

Check Record
First, let's look at Newcombe's 1956 record: he won 27 games and lost seven, the highest victory total in the majors. He had an earned-run average of 3.09, fifth best in the National League. He walked 46, struck out 137, started 36 games and went the distance 18 times.

Now, let's see what those who are belittling Newcombe are saying:

ACCUSATION—"He's failed to win the big games."

FACT—True, Newcombe has yet to win a World Series game while losing four. But, in many other instances, he has performed at his best under pressure.

Extra Duty
On Sept. 6, 1950, the Dodgers trailed the Philadelphia Phillies by 7 1/2 games. Newcombe started both ends of a doubleheader. He blanked the Phils 2-0 on three hits in the first game and gave up two runs on seven hits in the second. Brooklyn won the nightcap although Newk did not get credit for the victory.

The twin triumph started Brooklyn on a drive which carried it to within one game of the Phillies on the last day of the season. On that day Newcombe and Robin Roberts were locked in a 1-1 pitching duel after nine innings. Don was tagged for a three-run homer in the 10th by Dick Sisler and the Phils won the pennant.

Stretch Run
Newcombe did well in the stretch of 1951, the season of the Giants' miracle. With New York one-half game ahead on the next-to-last day of the campaign, Don hurled a seven-hit shutout over Philadelphia as the Dodgers deadlocked the race. The following day, he came back to work 5 2/3 innings against the Phils, giving up only one hit in relief. Newk did not get the victory but the Brooks won in the 14th.

In the third and pivotal playoff game of that season, Newcombe held a 4-1 lead going into the ninth inning. He still was in front 4-2 when Chuck Dressen lifted him for Ralph Branca. Then came Bobby Thomson's homer and the successful climax of the Giants' hectic chase.

Season Finale
Newcombe also hurled the penultimate-clinch game on the final day of the past season, although he was lifted in the eighth inning. The Dodgers beat Pittsburgh 8-6.

ACCUSATION—"Newcombe does not have many complete games. He tires in the late innings."

FACT—In 194 lifetime starts in the majors, Newcombe has gone the route 98 times for a better than .500 average. As a guide, only 11 pitchers completed at least half of the games they started in 1956. And Newcombe was one of them.

Rumor Vs. Fact
ACCUSATION—"Newcombe has trouble against certain National League clubs."

FACT—He holds an edge over every National League team. He finished on the credit side against all clubs in 1956 and in his six-year major league career is 19-4 against Chicago, 18-5 against Cincinnati, 10-8 against Milwaukee, 15-8 against New York, 16-13 against Philadelphia, 19-5 against Pittsburgh and 15-5 against St. Louis. Over-all, he shows a lifetime record of 112 victories against only 48 defeats for a .700 average.

ACCUSATION—"He gives up too many home runs."

FACT—The home runs he gave up to Yogi Berra were his undoing in the World Series. During the regular campaign, Don gave up 33 and was second to Robin Roberts' 48. Newcombe gave up 23 four-baggers and 10 to left-handed batters.

SUMMATION—Newcombe appears only to have trouble with the Yankees.

AFTERTHOUGHT—So do most of the pitchers in the American League.

Syracuse Keeps Lead

NEW YORK — Syracuse's 7-0 victory over Army enabled the Orangemen to maintain their first-place position Monday in the balloting for the 1956 Lambert Trophy, emblematic of the Eastern college football championship.

'Hungry' Baylor, Aggies Risk Unbeaten Strings

WACO, Tex. (AP) — The hungriest teams in Southwest Conference football clash here Saturday night — that is, hungry for a championship.

It's Baylor vs. Texas A&M with more than 40,000 witnesses expected and with unbeaten records going on the line.

Baylor last won a conference championship in 1924-25 years.

23 Teams Unbeaten In State

There are 23 11-man high school football teams unbeaten in Nebraska play after last week's activity.

Gordon, Lyons, Loup City and Ogallala fell from the select group last week. Gordon fell to unbeaten Chadron; Lyons lost to Valley; Loup City lost to Ord and Ogallala was beaten by Sidney.

The unbeaten list includes six Class A teams. They are Omaha North—the state's number one club—and Fremont, Falls City, Grand Island, Hastings and Kearney.

North's offense has been the most productive among the unbeaten clubs. In six games the Vikings have scored 246 points, for an average of 41 per game. That's seven points per game shy of a point-a-minute rate.

North and Class B West Point are the only unbeaten teams over the 200 mark.

Only one club has been unscored upon in 11-man play. Arcadia, working on an 18-game winning streak, hasn't yielded a touchdown in 14 consecutive games, and has outscored opponents 195-0 this year.

Last week Merna spoiled Arnold's perfect goal-line record. Merna scored one touchdown in a 41-7 loss after Arnold had held five straight opponents scoreless.

The list will be cut again next week, since two of the games on the upcoming schedule involve a pair of undefeated teams. Hastings is at Grand Island Friday in one of these games; Pierce and Plainview meet in the other.

Undefeated Seward Concordia plays Exeter, guardian of a perfect eight-man record.

Michigan State To Choose Sooners?

NEW YORK (INS) — Sportscenter Harry Wismer said Monday night that Michigan State is prepared to issue a ten-year football challenge to Oklahoma's Sooners for an annual game to climax the season for both teams.

Wismer also reported that the Spartans plan to increase the capacity of Macklin Field from its present 50,745 capacity to 78,000 by next season, and subsequently to double deck the stadium's stands to reach a total capacity of 105,000.

YOU BE THE QUARTERBACK

ANSWER

4. Deep pass. Worst call. Defense is well set for this one.

3. Hook. Little to choose between second and third choices but to be consistent with our reasoning on first choice, we must go this way.

2. Option. Passes frequently do not connect so we go with a running play. This play should get some yardage, possibly good yardage.

1. Dive. Best call. You can expect three yards on this play. That makes it third down and three. You should get the three in two downs, and all the while, you're keeping the ball away from that potent offense of the opponents.

ago. Texas A&M gained its last title in 1941 and that year backed into the throne room. The Aggies had the championship clinched before they met Texas on Thanksgiving Day, got beat 23-0 and were knocked out of the Rose Bowl as a result.

This game was projected as one bearing heavily on the championship last week when Texas A&M beat the conference favorite, Texas Christian, 7-6, to leave the Aggies and Baylor as the only undefeated teams in the league. The Aggies have one tie on their record.

The battle, expected to draw Baylor's biggest crowd in history, will match the newest coach in the conference—Sam Boyd—who just took over the Golden Bears this season—with Paul (Bear) Bryant, the man from Kentucky who came to A&M three years ago, found it at the depths of football fortune and has now built it back to a contending position.

Bryant observed Monday that Baylor had the best personnel in the league, and that includes Texas Christian.

Boyd said he had good boys but hadn't had sufficient time to get his team ready for the rugged conference race. "I installed a new system and while my boys have made good progress it still would be a lot better for me if I could play the big conference games—such as Texas A&M and Texas Christian—two weeks later," said the coach of the Golden Bears.

Baylor, unbeaten and untied in four games, did not play last week as Boyd tried to get his injured in shape and to get his team further acquainted with his system.

Boyd has a frightening quota of injuries, including regular center Larry Cowart, regular right tackle Bill Parsley, and regular left end Tony McGrazier. Cowart and Parsley are extremely doubtful but McGrazier probably will be able to play.

Whoopers Land-In Shooting Grounds

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Two large whooping cranes, rare migratory water birds, on their way South for the winter have chosen a risky place to rest—a public shooting grounds.

F. H. Davis, Minneapolis, regional supervisor of game management, U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service, said he has a report from a reliable observer that two whooping cranes have landed on the Harlan County Reservoir along the Republican River in Nebraska. Davis said the area is a public shooting grounds. Two Nebraska game wardens have been detailed to the area to help wildlife service men guard the large white birds. Duck and goose hunters are shooting in the area.

The reports are the first Davis received this fall on whooping crane southward migration. Hundreds of bird watchers, game wardens and other observers in North and South Dakota and Nebraska, in the migration route, are watching for the huge white cranes, which stand about five feet and have a seven foot wingspread.

Olympians Coast

DAYTON, Ohio. (AP) — The U.S. Olympic team coasted to an easy 85-68 victory over the Wichita Vickers of the National Industrial Basketball League Monday night with former All-America center Bill Russell scoring 19 points for the Olympians.

He Helped Topple TCU

Don Watson, 150-pound Texas A&M back who plays any position in the backfield, was instrumental in bringing an upset victory to his team in its game against Texas Christian. He intercepted a pass to stop a TCU drive, made a long run to set up the winning touchdown, and then passed for that. Then he held the ball for Loyd Taylor, A&M place kicker, to boot the extra point that brought the Aggies a 7-6 victory. (AP Wirephoto)

Bayuk's Performance Nets Big 7 Rushing Lead

With a crunching 142-yard performance against Iowa State, John (The Beast) Bayuk, Colorado's 217-lb. senior fullback, jumped from seventh to first on the list of Big Seven Conference rushers.

The big Buffalo has carried 60 times for 346 yards, an average of 5.7 per trip. Homer Floyd of Kansas, who has been the leader so far, picked up only 25 yards against Oklahoma and dropped to fifth with 59 carries for 282 yards.

Behind Bayuk come Cleveland Thomas of O.U. with 39 for 333, Tommy McDonald of O.U. with 47 for 329, and Jerry Brown of Nebraska with 49 for 312. Jimmy Hunter of Missouri and Wally Strauch of Kansas held their 1-2 spots as forward passers. Hunter has completed 17 of 38 for 183 yards, Strauch eight of 23 for 168. Moving up to third was Roy Stinnett of Nebraska with 10 of 16 for 120 yards.

Missouri's Charlie James widened his lead as top pass catcher. He now has grabbed 15 for 171 yards. John Scheldrup, Iowa State, kept second with six for 140, and McDonald remained in third with five for 105 yards.

Oklahoma's top-ranked Sooners, last week's national leaders in rushing and total offense, fell a bit off the pace in their game with Kansas. The Sooners dropped from a 477-yard total offense average in three games to 459.5. They now have rushed for 1,536 yards and picked up 232 in the air for a total of 1,828. Their ground average sagged from 406.3 to 396.5.

This week Oklahoma takes on Notre Dame in the nationally televised game at South Bend, where all-out effort will be required. Missouri with 1,732, Colorado with 1,526 and Nebraska with 1,381 trail O.U. in total offense. The latter three teams have played five games.

Howard Cook of Colorado stayed put as the No. 1 punter with three averaging 60.2 yards. Billy Pricer of Oklahoma is next with eight going an average of 47.4. Boyd Dowler has delivered 13 for a 42.4 average.

Gene Worden of Colorado, with four averaging 15.5 yards, and McDonald, with five averaging 14.8, remained in command in punt returning.

Oklahoma's Thomas hiked his scoring total to 48 points, while McDonald moved into second with 42 points. James of Missouri is tied for third with Floyd of Kansas, each with 30 points. Hank Kuhlmann of Missouri is next with 25 points.

Sanders Resigns As East-West Pilot

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — UCLA Coach Red Sanders has withdrawn as head coach for the West in the annual East-West Shrine charity football game scheduled here Dec. 29.

The game's managing director, Bill Coffman, said Monday that UCLA Chancellor Raymond B. Allen has ruled that no member of the school's coaching staff can participate in post-season games this school year.

Sanders was appointed to the East-West post last January, with Abe Martin of TCU and Dal Ward of Colorado as his assistants.

Coffman said Sanders had informed him of Allen's decision last Saturday. He said efforts have been started to replace him.

Roberts Breaks Own 'Gopher' Record

NEW YORK (AP) — Home run production in the major leagues not only reached an all-time high of 2,394 in 1956, but also resulted in the National League "gopher" ball record being broken and the American loop mark being tied.

Robin Roberts of the Philadelphia Phils served up 46 home run pitches in 297 innings to top the National League in this department for the third straight season and also surpass his own record. In 1955 the hard-working right-hander gave up 41 "gophers" in 305 innings.

Figures compiled by The Associated Press also revealed Monday that Washington's Camillo Pascual allowed the most home runs in the junior circuit, 32 in 189 innings. This tied him with Freddie Hutchinson, who yielded 32 in 221 frames with Detroit in 1948.

Bill Wight of Baltimore, on the other hand, proved to be the toughest American League pitcher, among those who worked '54 innings or more, to get to for a home run. The Orioles' southpaw was solved for only seven in 175 innings.

ROBERTS

He can start a game," Lopez replied. "With the type of pitching staff we had at Cleveland we couldn't afford to carry another man that had to have that much rest," since the club didn't want to release Bob Feller, who also needs four days rest.

"He also had to learn the hitters in the American League after becoming a National League hurler all his career," Lopez continued. "This was a big disadvantage to overcome."

Lopez repeated a recent statement that he is without immediate prospects of another job, and wouldn't mind sitting out a year, but that he is not ready to retire from baseball.

MAGLIE NEEDED TOO MUCH REST SO WE LET HIM GO SAYS LOPEZ

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — Al Lopez, recently resigned manager of the Cleveland Indians, said Monday Cleveland let Sal Maglie go last season because he needed four days rest between starts and didn't know the American League hitters.

The Brooklyn Dodgers picked up the 39-year-old hurler and he became the National League champion's ace in the hole, winning 13 and losing five.

Lopez, a Tampa resident, spoke to the Tampa Quarterback Club and was asked why the Indians released Maglie, a former New York Giant star.

"Maglie is the type of pitcher that needs four days rest before

In the senior circuit, Cincinnati's Hal Jeffcoat, a converted outfielder, was the stingiest when it came to giving up "gophers." Jeffcoat, who made the transition to the mound in 1954, allowed just 12 homers in 171 frames.

Roberts, a control specialist with a 19-18 won-lost record, experienced his greatest difficulty with the pennant-winning Brooklyn Dodgers, who solved him for homers. Brooklyn's Duke Snider and Ernie Banks of the Chicago Cubs were his chief tormentors with three each.

Newcombe Second

Runner-up to Roberts was the Dodgers' Don Newcombe, who threw 33 home run tosses in 211 innings. The St. Louis Cards gave Stan Musial his biggest individual nemesis. The Red Birds hit eight homers off Newcombe with Musial accounting for four.

The Cubs' Bob Rush was third with 31 "gophers" followed by teammate Warren Hacker, 27, and St. Louis' Tom Donohue, 27. Pascual failed to contain the Yankees' sluggers, who connected for 13 home runs off the young Cuban's stams.

'Hungry' Baylor, Aggies Risk Unbeaten Strings

WACO, Tex. (AP) — The hungriest teams in Southwest Conference football clash here Saturday night—that is, hungriest for a championship.

It's Baylor vs. Texas A&M with more than 40,000 witnesses expected and with unbeaten records going on the line.

Baylor last won a conference championship in 1924-32 years ago.

23 Teams Unbeaten In State

There are 23 11-man high school football teams unbeaten in Nebraska play after last week's activity.

Gordon, Lyons, Loup City and Ogallala fell from the select group last week. Gordon fell to unbeaten Chadron; Lyons lost to Valley; Loup City lost to Ord and Ogallala was beaten by Sidney.

The unbeaten list includes six Class A teams. They are Omaha North—the state's number one club—and Fremont, Falls City, Grand Island, Hastings and Kearney.

North's offense has been the most productive among the unbeaten clubs. In six games the Vikings have scored 246 points, for an average of 41 per game. That's seven points per game shy of a point-a-minute rate.

North and Class B West Point are the only unbeaten teams over the 200 mark.

Only one club has been unscathed upon in 11-man play. Arcadia, working on an 18-game winning streak, hasn't yielded a touchdown in 14 consecutive games, and has outscored opponents 195-0 this year.

Last week Merna spoiled Arnold's perfect goal-line record. Merna scored one touchdown in a 41-7 loss after Arnold had held five straight opponents scoreless.

The list will be cut again next week, since two of the games on the upcoming schedule involve a pair of undefeated teams. Hastings is at Grand Island Friday in one of these games; Pierce and Plainview meet in the other.

Undefeated Seward Concordia plays Exeter, guardian of a perfect eight-man record.

Michigan State To Choose Sooners?

NEW YORK (INS)—Sportscenter Harry Wismer said Monday night that Michigan State is prepared to issue a ten-year football challenge to Oklahoma's Sooners for an annual game to climax the season for both teams.

Wismer also reported that the Spartans plan to increase the capacity of Macklin Field from its present 50,745 capacity to 78,000 by next season, and subsequently to double deck the stadium's stands to reach a total capacity of 105,000.

YOU BE THE QUARTERBACK ANSWER

1. Deep Pass. Worst call. Defense is well set for this one.
2. Hook. Little to choose between second and third choices but to be consistent with our reasoning on first choice, we must go this way.
3. Option. Passes frequently do not connect so we go with a running play. This play should get some yardage, possibly good yardage.
4. Dive. Best call. You can expect three yards on this play. That makes it third down and three. You should get the three in two downs, and all the while, you're keeping the ball away from that potent offense of the opponents.

The one and only mellow-mash bourbon
Yellowstone

For over 100 years, people have been discovering something "new" in old Kentucky. It's a different bourbon—better, smoother, remarkably free of bite.

The reason? It has the best characteristics of sour-mash bourbon and sweet-mash bourbon. It's one step better—mellow-mash, the exclusive Yellowstone way of achieving full bourbon flavor with light body.

People outside Kentucky are discovering this old favorite. Why don't you? Once you taste it, you'll know why it's called "the greatest American whiskey!"

Soil Bank Plan May Expand Shelterbelts

Windbreak Program Started During Duststorms Of 1930s

WASHINGTON (AP) — Tree plantings in six states where shelterbelts were established in the 1930s to help protect farm homes, soil, livestock and other property against disastrous duststorms are expected to expand as a result of the soil bank program.

This is the opinion of Forest Service officials of the Agriculture Department, who say farmers now can get some payment for taking land out of production under the soil bank conservation reserve program and that it may stimulate tree plantings.

The department goal is around a half million acres planted in windbreaks and shelterbelts.

Some department officials recently were in the middle west to meet with commercial nursery operators and to determine the number of trees that might be obtained for windbreaks planting. Some states which operate nurseries may expand their facilities if the demand warrants it.

Nebraska Included

The forest service says that all reports it has received indicate that the big government - aid shelterbelt program in strips of western Texas, western Oklahoma, western Kansas, western Nebraska and parts of North Dakota and South Dakota during the dustbowl days of the 1930s proved successful.

That shelterbelt program, authorized in August, 1934, and expected to run for a 10-year period was halted in 1942 because of the war. Since then there has been some private tree and shrub planting in the area.

Officially known as the prairie states forestry project, the shelterbelt program was designed as a measure for drought relief and employment in 1934.

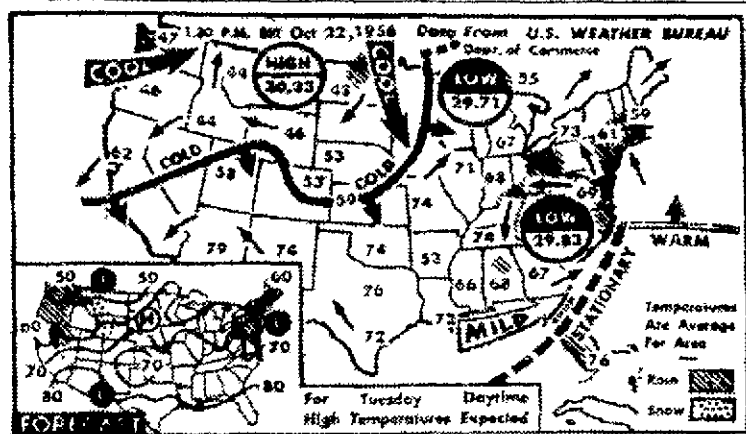

Covered Million Acres

The plan called for a swath 200 miles wide from the Canadian border to the Gulf of Mexico, consisting of windbreaks in the form of 100-foot strips of trees planted in a north - south direction through the Dakotas, Nebraska, Kansas, Oklahoma and Texas, covering an estimated one million acres.

During the eight year program $14,802,307 in federal money was spent on the project and 217,378,352 trees were planted on 30,223 farms.

A large part of the government money went for purchase of trees from commercial nurseries or for seedlings from federal or state nurseries. Some wild seedlings were gathered and planted.

One Forest Service official said a Cherry County, Neb., farmer related that during the blizzard of 1948 he found his cattle taking shelter along his shelterbelt trees while neighbors who had no shelterbelt suffered livestock losses. Some farmers reported better crops and grass on strips adjacent to the shelterbelt trees.

Northern Rockies Expecting Snow

Rain is expected over most of the northeastern states, in the Northwest, north and central Lakes region and Florida peninsula Tuesday, with snow in the higher elevation of the northern Rockies. It will be cooler over most of the northern half of the U.S. except for the extreme east, while the rest of the nation will note little change in temperatures. (AP Wirephoto Map.)

Demo Promises Would Cost $15 Billion, Curtis Charges

GENEVA, Neb. (AP) — Sen. Curtis (R-Neb.) declared Monday that if all the promises made by the Democratic presidential and vice presidential candidates were to be enacted into law they would cost the taxpayers more than $15 billion annually.

Curtis' statement was made at a luncheon meeting here as he joined the Republican Campaign Caravan after a two-week stint as a member of the GOP "Truth Squad."

Curtis lashed out at what he termed "financial irresponsibility" demonstrated in Democratic proposed programs.

He declared that "Stevenson and Kefauver have promised more government welfare programs and more benefits for every single pressure group."

"A careful estimate of the costs should their promises be enacted into law amounts to over $15 billion dollars per year," Curtis said. "This means not only more debts and higher taxes but it means higher costs for everything we buy."

Lower Rentals Requested On Scully Lands

NELSON, Neb. (AP) — Thomas A. Scully, trustee of 40,000 acres in Nuckolls and Gage Counties, Monday instructed his attorney to file an application in Nuckolls County Court asking for permission to abate part of the rents in the two counties on Scully lands held in trust.

An attorney said the request comes as a result of a recent inspection tour of the counties. Both Gage and Nuckolls Counties are classed as a part of the Nebraska drought disaster area.

Hearing on a similar application was resisted last year by the beneficiary of the trust, Robin Scully of Beatrice. Thomas A. Scully of Lincoln, Ill., is an uncle of Robin and was named trustee of Robin's portion of the Scully estate.

'Truckers Being Deceived On Ton-Mile Tax'

By The Associated Press

Thousands of Nebraska truckers "are being deceived" about the effect upon them of the proposed ton-mile tax, a backer of the proposal said Monday.

There has been failure to emphasize the fact that the license fees paid by Nebraska truckers will be treated as a pre-payment on the ton-mile tax, Edward F. Carter Jr., Lincoln attorney, declared in remarks delivered to the Rotary Club at Seward, Neb.

"A Nebraska trucker with a license to haul 10 tons of cargo now pays $370 for his license," Carter explained. "This will entitle him to travel 19,473 miles on Nebraska roads before he would pay any ton-mile taxes under the proposed law."

"Thus the proposed ton-mile tax is aimed directly at the outside trucking syndicates whose big boxcars are just 'passing through' Nebraska and do not buy Nebraska licenses."

Complacency Attacked

Meanwhile, a leading opponent of the tax proposal declared Monday that the "complacency of city business people" is "one of our highest hurdles in the ton-mile tax fight."

"Many young executives have come up during and since the war years and do not know, first hand, the repercussions of a statewide drought," George Spidel of Lincoln said at a Beatrice meeting of Farmers Union officers.

"City business cannot long escape the drag which paralyzed agriculture places on the business community of the state," he added.

Spidel is chairman of the Nebraska Producers and Consumers Committee, formed to fight the tax measure upon which Nebraskans will ballot Nov. 6.

AAA conducts road tests of New Sinclair Power-X Gasoline with X-Chemical. Tests were equivalent to four years' typical driving.

AAA Certified Tests Prove New Sinclair Power-X with X-Chemical Does What No Other Gasoline Ever Did Before!

INCREASES POWER—CUTS OPERATING COSTS AS YOU DRIVE

PROBLEM: Photo shows how carbon or other harmful combustion deposits build up on pistons. These hard, crusty deposits, which can form in as little as 3,000 miles, cause knock and loss of power.

SOLUTION: New X-Chemical in Sinclair Power-X Gasoline attacks hard, crusty deposits—changes them into harmless, powdery material. Result—increased power, lower operating costs.

In a series of road and laboratory tests, the American Automobile Association proved that new Sinclair Power-X Gasoline with X-Chemical provides more power and lower operating cost because it:

1. Eliminates harmful combustion deposits normally built up in everyday driving.
2. Eliminates pre-ignition knock as a cause of power loss and possible engine damage.
3. Drastically reduces spark plug fouling.

AAA technicians supervised road tests, accompanying drivers all the way. Dynamometer tests proved new Sinclair Power-X increases power in older cars, retains peak power in new cars.

Sec. Benson Calls Critics Of Farm Policies 'New Reactionaries'

Ag Chief Claims Opponents Want 'Controls' Plan

ERIE, Pa. —Secretary of Agriculture Benson said Monday night that critics of Eisenhower administration farm policies are the "new reactionaries." He said they want to go "backward" to measures that feature "controls, not freedom."

Without naming them, Benson said "our critics" keep "turning back to depression-born and war-born programs."

"They lived for 20 years in a series of crises—one after another—many of which their own programs helped to bring on," he said.

Casualty

"And in every crisis the first casualty was freedom. They wanted controls and more controls—demonstrating always their suspicion of the free decision of free people."

"Yet these people now would distort the dictionary by calling themselves 'liberals' or 'progressives'."

"But are they? A liberal is one who is dedicated to freedom—to liberty. A progressive is one who looks forward. These people look backward, not forward. They love controls, not freedom."

"They are, in truth, the new reactionaries."

Grange Talk

Benson's statements were in a talk prepared for the 84th annual meeting of the Pennsylvania State Grange.

Denouncing what he called "economic aspirin tablet" type farm programs, the GOP farm chief said the "clear-cut issue is more regimentation of farmers versus more freedom and opportunity for farmers."

Benson said agriculture is not sharing as it should in the nation's prosperity, but he added there were "obvious and clear-cut reasons" for this. He blamed the accumulation of farm surpluses under programs set up by previous Democratic administrations.

Business property at 3301 South has been purchased by Dr. Merit C. Pedersen, Lincoln dentist, from Johnson-Schaefer Inc., local real estate firm, for $42,000, according to a deed filed with the Register of Deeds Office.

Dr. Pedersen said the building, occupied by a self-laundry, beauty salon, and a dental office, was purchased "as an investment."

The dentist said he would continue to maintain his own office at its present location.

Man Pleads Guilty To Amended Charge

Harold Fiedler, 30, of 6005 South has pleaded guilty in Lancaster District Court to an amended charge of contributing to the delinquency of a 15-year-old girl last Aug. 15.

Fiedler had pleaded innocent to a charge of fondling a minor, but changed his plea when the charge was reduced by the prosecuting attorney to a misdemeanor complaint.

Judge John L. Polk deferred sentencing pending an investigation by the adult probation officer.

Ambulance Law Given 1st Reading

The City Council has introduced on first reading an ordinance classifying ambulances as emergency vehicles.

The classification permits the vehicles, when on an emergency trip, to violate stop signs and traffic signal lights and to ignore turning regulations. All such violations, however, are permitted only with caution.

Violation of speed limits is not permitted.

Other ordinance action:

Introducing a bill for commercial structures of a height 12 inches beyond the lot line.

Creation of a sewer district in Randolph, Canby, 21st.

Creation of an ornamental lighting district in Center, Randolph to O.

Vacation of the north-south alley from L to M between 20th and 21st.

Sec. Benson Calls Critics Of Farm Policies 'New Reactionaries'

Ag Chief Claims Opponents Want 'Controls' Plan

ERIE, Pa. (AP)—Secretary of Agriculture Benson said Monday night that critics of Eisenhower administration farm policies are the "new reactionaries." He said they want to go "backward" to measures that feature "controls, not freedom."

Without naming them, Benson said "our critics" keep "turning back to depression-born and war-born programs."

"They lived for 20 years in a series of crises—one after another—many of which their own programs helped to bring on," he said.

Casualty

"And in every crisis the first casualty was freedom. They wanted controls and more controls—demonstrating always their suspicion of the free decision of free people."

"Yet these people now would distort the dictionary by calling themselves 'liberals' or 'progressives.'"

"But are they? A liberal is one who is dedicated to freedom—to liberty. A progressive is one who looks forward. These people look backward, not forward. They love controls, not freedom."

"They are, in truth, the new reactionaries."

Grange Talk

Benson's statements were in a talk prepared for the 84th annual meeting of the Pennsylvania State Grange.

Denouncing what he called "economic aspirin tablet" type farm programs, the GOP farm chief said the "clear-cut issue is more regimentation of farmers versus more freedom and opportunity for farmers."

Benson said agriculture is not sharing as it should in the nation's prosperity, but he added there were "obvious and clear-cut reasons" for this. He blamed the accumulation of farm surpluses under programs set up by previous Democratic administrations.

John S. Pacal, Lifetime Weston Resident, Is Dead

Lincoln Star Special

WAHOO, Neb.—Funeral services for John S. Pacal, 73, of Weston, will be held Wednesday at St. John's Catholic church.

Mr. Pacal owned and operated a drug store in Weston for 47 years. He was born in Weston and had lived there all his life.

Survivors include two sons, Louis of Weston, and Capt. Richard, stationed at Offutt Air Force Base, Omaha, and a daughter, Miss Angela Pacal of Weston.

Goodwill—And Good Food

Agriculture Today Big Business, Crete Farmer-Merchant Banquet Is Told

By DEL HARDING
Star Staff Writer

CRETE, Neb.—More than 300 persons who turned out Monday night for the seventh annual farmer-merchant banquet here heard an Omaha banker declare that "agriculture today is big business."

C. W. Means, assistant vice president of the Stockyards National Bank, said that "agriculture used to be simply a way of life. But now, he said, many farmers have from $60,000 to $100,000 invested in their land, machinery and livestock."

"We bankers," he said, "very much depend upon you farmers. Unless we can all go ahead none of us can go ahead." A farmer today, he said, must be a combination of a geneticist, engineer, chemist, gambler, veterinarian, salesman, weather prophet, community leader and Christian.

Perhaps most of all, Means said, today's farmer must be a student—to keep abreast of the constantly changing methods and techniques in agriculture.

Dr. Pedersen Buys Business Property

Business property at 3301 South has been purchased by Dr. Merritt C. Pedersen, Lincoln dentist, from Johnson-Schaefer Inc., local real estate firm, for $42,000, according to a deed filed with the Register of Deeds Office.

Dr. Pedersen said the building, occupied by a self-laundry, beauty salon, and a dental office, was purchased "as an investment."

The dentist said he would continue to maintain his own office at its present location.

Man Pleads Guilty To Amended Charge

Harold Fiedler, 30, of 6005 South has pleaded guilty in Lancaster District Court to an amended charge of contributing to the delinquency of a 15-year-old girl last Aug. 15.

Fiedler had pleaded innocent to a charge of fondling a minor, but changed his plea when the charge was reduced by the prosecuting attorney to a misdemeanor complaint.

Judge John L. Polk deferred sentencing pending an investigation by the adult probation officer.

Ambulance Law Given 1st Reading

The City Council has introduced on first reading an ordinance classifying ambulances as emergency vehicles.

The classification permits the vehicles, when on an emergency trip, to violate stop signs and traffic signal lights and to ignore turning regulations. All such violations, however, are permitted only with caution.

Violation of speed limits is not permitted.

Other ordinance action:

Introduced

Establishing building line for commercial structures at a point 12 inches beyond the lot line.

Creation of a sewer district in Randolph, Capitol to 21st.

Creation of an ornamental lighting district in Corner, Randolph to O.

Vacation of the north-south alley from 12 to 21 between 20th and 21st.

Vacation of 47th, Fremont to the Rock Island right-of-way.

Final Passage

Paving district in Dudley, Meadow Lane subdivision to Lancaster Lane and Lancaster Lane, Meadow Dale Dr. to Hol-drege.

Paving district in 56th, South to Normal; Gladys, 56th to 58th, and all of Korst Circle.

OH, MY ACHING BACK

Now you can get the fast relief you need from nagging backache, headache and muscular aches and pains that often cause restless nights and miserable tired-out feelings. When these discomforts come on with over-exertion or stress and strain—you want relief—want it fast! Another disturbance may be mild bladder irritation following wrong food and drink—often setting up a restless uncomfortable feeling.

For quick relief get Doan's Pills. They work fast in 3 separate ways: 1. by speedy pain-relieving action to ease torment of nagging backache, headache, muscular aches and pains. 2. by their soothing effect on bladder irritation. 3. by their mild diuretic action tending to increase output of the 15 miles of kidney tubes.

Find out how quickly this 3-way medicine goes to work. Enjoy a good night's sleep and the same happy relief millions have for over 60 years. Ask for new, large size and save money. Get Doan's Pills today!

Herman Rutt Rites Set For Tuesday

Museum Conference Begins 3-Day Meet Here Thursday

The Mountain-Plains Museum Conference will open its three day meeting in Lincoln Thursday.

The group will meet in Lincoln again Friday and in Omaha Saturday.

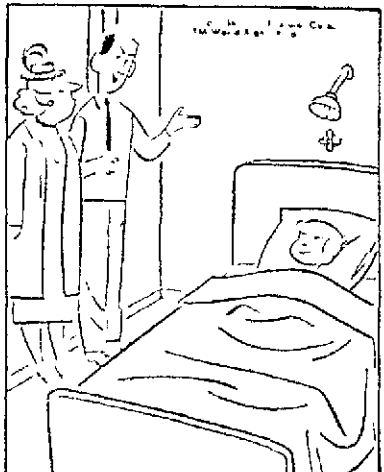

Hosts to this third annual meeting of the Conference are the Nebraska State Historical Society, the University of Nebraska State Museum, the University of Nebraska Art Galleries, the Joslyn Art Museum and the House of Yesterday, Hastings.

The convention will meet Thursday morning with registration in the State Historical Society building. Thursday sessions will be held there. Friday meetings will be held in Morrill Hall, home of the University Museum and the University Art Gallery, and the Saturday session will be in Omaha at the Joslyn Art Museum.

A welcome address by Chancellor Clifford Hardin of the University of Nebraska will open the conference at 10:30 a.m. Thursday. Highlighting the more general session will be addresses by Dr. Carl Guthe, research associate of the American Association of Museums, and Dr. Donald G. Emery, Dean of Adult Education, University of Omaha.

Other sessions of the conference will be devoted to specialized programs and workshops. The program Friday morning will be devoted to the relation of museums to television.

Malcolm Road Group Claims Census Wrong

By ROY CAMPBELL
Star Staff Writer

A five-man road delegation from Malcolm pleaded a mistaken census count in 1950 in asking Monday that a two-mile link to Hwy. 234 be put under state care.

The delegation, headed by George Warnsholz, chairman of the village board, told the Highway Advisory Commission at the Statehouse the village was improperly listed in the 1950 census. The count, he said, actually was 109 persons, not the 93 listed in the census.

The Commission was told that because the count was listed under 100, the Legislature didn't favorably consider Malcolm for putting the spur under state maintenance.

Just A Guide

The delegation was told that the 100 population figure was not part of the law during the legislative session but was only used as a criterion figure. It had no basis in law, the delegation was told.

State Engineer L. N. Ress told the group it would be in years before the state could fix the road because if placed on the state's maintenance list, it would be at the bottom of the priority list.

The delegation was told it would be better off appealing to the Lancaster County commissioners to have the two-mile spur designated for federal aid secondary funds matchable with local support.

No Action Taken

The Highway Commission took no action on the hearing request. Action also was deferred on a request by the Highway 92 Association for construction of 15 miles of blacktop road west of Arthur to the Arthur County line.

The delegation, headed by W. B. Hagler, Arnold, association president, told the Commission they eventually wanted a 40-mile blacktop road all the way west to Broadwater. The present roads require a trip of 109 miles, the delegation said.

December Meeting Set

The Commission agreed Monday to meet Dec. 10-12 with Ress and the State Highway Department's division highway engineer and department heads to put the state's two-year road program in final form.

The problem of inducing Nebraska's counties to take advantage of federal matching funds available to them received renewed attention at Monday's commission meeting.

Routine Check Nets Arrest Of Pen Escapee

OGALLALA, Neb. — A routine check by two Nebraska Safety Patrolmen stationed at Ogallala brought about the arrest of a California prison escapee.

Troopers Eugene Morrissey and Donald Lenker stopped a car about 1 a.m. Sunday and discovered that the driver had no driver's license or registration. The driver said his papers were in his room, but a check there revealed that he had no papers.

The driver then admitted he was operating a stolen car and he had escaped from the Soledad, Calif., State Prison Sept. 28.

He identified himself as Ralph W. Jones, 34. He said he had been in prison so long he had no permanent address.

Jones, who waived extradition, said he had been working as a cook in an Ogallala cafe for about two weeks.

POISED DEFENDANT HANDLES OWN CASE

By VIRGIL FALLOON
Star Staff Writer

With decided courtroom poise, a 25-year-old New Yorker Monday told the jury he had helped to select that he would "tell my story under oath."

Homer Keeney of Buffalo, N.Y., did not outline his defense for the burglary and grand larceny charges against him, but did term some aspects of the prosecution's opening statements as "absolutely untrue."

Claiming no formal legal training, Keeney represented himself and displayed a genial manner and a decided limp, during the selection of his jury of nine women and three men.

$150 From Purse

Dep. Co. Atty. Dale Fahrbruch told the jurors that Keeney allegedly entered the home of Mrs. Hazel Kubat at 6343 Adams last Sept. 13 and took an estimated $150 from her purse.

Co-defendant in the case is George Young, 30, of Bakersfield, Calif., who is to be tried by a subsequent jury.

Frank Vaverka of 6343 Adams, first state witness, identified Keeney as the person he saw get out of a red car with California plates and walk rapidly to the Kubat's front door shortly after 6 p.m.

On cross-examination by Keeney, the witness said he did not see the defendant knock on or try the door. "If you had, I would have seen you," Vaverka maintained under extensive questioning.

Went In Side Door

The witness testified that Keeney then entered the house by the side door.

He next observed the defendant "running across the front lawn" after he "heard a door slam." At that time, he related, the red car was "pulling around the corner down the street."

Taking the stand, Mrs. Kubat testified that she had "about $450," most in $20 bills, which was missing from her purse after the alleged burglary.

She said she had checked the lock on the front screen door, before going into the back yard with her son and grandson.

Couldn't Get to Bank

Mrs. Kubat had the money "three or four weeks," but had not been able to get downtown to bank it.

Her testimony also was that a child's token of a type discontinued by the Lincoln City Busline since June, 1951, was also in her purse along with some change.

In opening statements, Fahrbruch said such a token was found in Keeney's possession when he was found lying in a weed patch near the Kubat home.

Other members of Mrs. Kubat's family are expected to be called to the stand Tuesday.

for federal aid secondary funds matchable with local support.

No Action Taken

The Highway Commission took no action on the hearing request. Action also was deferred on a request by the Highway 92 Association for construction of 15 miles of blacktop road west of Arthur to the Arthur County line.

The delegation, headed by W. B. Hagler, Arnold, association president, told the Commission they eventually wanted a 40-mile blacktop road all the way west to Broadwater. The present roads require a trip of 109 miles, the delegation said.

December Meeting Set

The Commission agreed Monday to meet Dec. 10-12 with Ress and the State Highway Department's division highway engineer and department heads to put the state's two-year road program in final form.

The problem of inducing Nebraska's counties to take advantage of federal matching funds available to them received renewed attention at Monday's commission meeting.

Routine Check Nets Arrest Of Pen Escapee

OGALLALA, Neb. — A routine check by two Nebraska Safety Patrolmen stationed at Ogallala brought about the arrest of a California prison escapee.

Troopers Eugene Morrissey and Donald Lenker stopped a car about 1 a.m. Sunday and discovered that the driver had no driver's license or registration. The driver said his papers were in his room, but a check there revealed that he had no papers.

The driver then admitted he was operating a stolen car and he had escaped from the Soledad, Calif., State Prison Sept. 28.

He identified himself as Ralph W. Jones, 34. He said he had been in prison so long he had no permanent address.

Jones, who waived extradition, said he had been working as a cook in an Ogallala cafe for about two weeks.

POISED DEFENDANT HANDLES OWN CASE

By VIRGIL FALLOON
Star Staff Writer

With decided courtroom poise, a 25-year-old New Yorker Monday told the jury he had helped to select that he would "tell my story under oath."

Homer Keeney of Buffalo, N.Y., did not outline his defense for the burglary and grand larceny charges against him, but did term some aspects of the prosecution's opening statements as "absolutely untrue."

Claiming no formal legal training, Keeney represented himself and displayed a genial manner and a decided limp, during the selection of his jury of nine women and three men.

$450 From Purse

Dep. Co. Atty. Dale Fahrbruch told the jurors that Keeney allegedly entered the home of Mrs. Hazel Kubat at 6843 Adams last Sept. 13 and took an estimated $450 from her purse.

Co-defendant in the case is George Young, 30, of Bakersfield, Calif., who is to be tried by a subsequent jury.

Frank Vaverka of 6843 Adams, first state witness, identified Keeney as the person he saw get out of a red car with California plates and walk rapidly to the Kubat's front door shortly after 6 p.m.

On cross-examination by Keeney, the witness said he did not see the defendant knock on or try the door. "If you had, I would have seen you," Vaverka maintained under extensive questioning.

Went In Side Door

The witness testified that Keeney then entered the house by the side door.

He next observed the defendant "running across the front lawn" after he "heard a door slam." At that time, he related, the red car was "pulling around the corner down the street."

Taking the stand, Mrs. Kubat testified that she had "about $450," most in $20 bills, which was missing from her purse after the alleged burglary.

She said she had checked the lock on the front screen door, before going into the back yard with her son and grandson.

Couldn't Get to Bank

Mrs. Kubat had the money "three or four weeks," but had not been able to get downtown to bank it.

Her testimony also was that a child's token of a type discontinued by the Lincoln City Busline since June, 1956, was also in her purse along with some change.

In opening statements, Fahrbruch said such a token was found in Keeney's possession when he was found lying in a weed patch near the Kubat home.

Other members of Mrs. Kubat's family are expected to be called to the stand Tuesday.
